10 Die In Fire Police Believe Purposely Set

CHICAGO (AP)—Ten persons, including six children and four women, were killed and more than a dozen others were injured early today in a fire which swept through a crowded four-story apartment building on this city's near northwest side.

All of the dead and injured in the blaze, which police and fire officials said appeared to have been of incendiary origin, were negroes. Fourteen were in hospital.

Firemen searched the smouldering ruins of the 16-apartment building after early reports had placed the death toll as high as 20.

More than 250 persons were reported to have been in the building when the blaze broke out under a stairway on the first floor and spread quickly through the roof.

SEARCHERS FIND CAN

Fire Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan said a charred can that smelled strongly of kerosene was found in the stairwell. He believed the fire had been deliberately started.

Panic gripped the tenants as the flames mounted rapidly up the stairs, penetrating all 16 flats. One woman was killed and four other persons injured as they plunged out of windows before firemen reached the burning structure.

Five tenants leaped into the firemen's landing net before a part of it was torn by the impact of a heavy man. A minute later a woman jumped into the torn net and was killed. Other tenants fled down the stairs or descended on a fire escape.

Two women and six children perished by suffocation or were fatally burned in third and fourth floor apartments. The dead children included two boys about one and three, and four girls ranging in age from two to 15.

$130,000 Objective For Chest Campaign

Victoria must raise $30,000 more this year than last to keep the 19 agencies within the Community Chest operating, J. Denis Hagar, campaign chairman, stated today in announcing the objective of $130,000. The campaign will open Oct. 20, and carry on for two weeks.

Increased administration costs and heavier demands for the services of the member agencies have made it necessary to set the objective so high, he explained.

In makeshift clothing, Italian children are shown above, standing outside the cave near Naples that is their home, expecting food. The U.N.'s emergency fund finds it difficult to decide who in Europe should be given help because of the large numbers who urgently need assistance.

Man Dead From Carving Knife Wounds, Wife In Hospital In Serious Condition

"The case has the earmarks of murder and attempted suicide," Acting Chief of Police John Blackstock reported today after investigating the tragedy last night in which William Austin Davis, 55, was found dead with his throat deeply slashed and 220 in the afternoon. It was a female voice, but what she was trying to say could not be understood by the police.

The station receives many such calls on family troubles and difficulties arising from parties in homes. All the policeman on the phone could distinguish in the garble of words was an address that sounded like "1805 Crescent." Police searched the Hollywood Crescent and Crescent Road area, but were unable to locate any trouble.

The house is a newly-constructed duplex structure with modern interior fixtures.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Jennings and Mrs. Mary P. Jennings, mother of Gordon, occupy the other section of the duplex.

Mrs. Mary Jennings was the only one home in the afternoon. Around 2:30 she heard loud noises coming from the other part of the duplex.

When Mr. Jennings came home he telephoned Ted Davis, son of the deceased man, and told him of the noises. The son came to the house, could not get in by the door and finally entered the house by a kitchen window. He immediately got in touch with city police.

According to police Mr. Davis just recently underwent a serious stomach operation, performed by Dr. Thomas M. Jones. Police also said that Mrs. Davis had not been well lately, and had consulted Dr. D. E. Alcorn psychiatrist.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis had only been married between three and four months, according to deceased's friends. He was president of the Victoria Automobile Dealers' Association for two years.

WILLIAM A. DAVIS

dent of the Victoria Automobile Dealers' Association for two years.

Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner, reported today there would be no inquest into Mr. Davis' death before next week.

Acting Chief Blackstock, who has been in charge of the case from the start, was assisted by Detective-Sergeant Henry Jarvis in investigations today.

First police on the Crescent Road scene last evening were Constables William Elliott and Rodney McNeill. In response to their reports Inspector John Howe and Detective P. W. Richards attended, also Sgt. Thomas Banister and Constables Dick Berry, Aldon Appleton and Edward Hamer.

Car Men Ready To Negotiate Before Strike Called Union President Says

Final strike plans for the 2,800 carmen of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company in Vancouver, Victoria, and New Westminster will be made at separate meetings, it was announced in Vancouver.

Vancouver street railwaymen will meet at 12:30 a.m. Sunday; New Westminster at midnight Sunday, and Victoria at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Strike committees will be set up at each meeting, and Lloyd Easter, president of the union, said:

"The union is still ready to negotiate, but it will have to be on the basis of our original demands."

He declared that if the men strike, it will be "total war."

"When we go on strike now, it's total war, let the chips fall where they may."

Deputy Labor Minister James Thomson believes there is still hope of averting the strike. Following a meeting with high union officials, he predicted further negotiations.

In the largest government-supervised strike vote ever conducted under British Columbia's Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act which became law last May 15, 2,117 members of the union voted for and 411 against strike action to enforce their demands for higher wages and shorter working hours. The vote was conducted Wednesday in the three cities and supervised by 18 officials of the provincial labor department.

Strike action by the union will deprive 500,000 citizens of British Columbia's three major cities of their main urban transportation facilities.

Some citizens, recalling the 1944 strike of B.C. Electric transit workers, are already making arrangements for make-shift transportation to offices and factories.

The dispute between the employees and the company dates back to last March. Since then the representatives of the company and the union have run the full course of negotiation and conciliation.

THREE WAGE PROPOSALS

When negotiations broke down a three-man conciliation board attempted to effect a settlement. While the majority of the points under dispute were unanimously agreed on, the three members of the board recommended three different wage increases, ranging from five cents per hour, suggested by the union nominee.

The company finally offered the more than 2,800 employees the chairman's proposal of a five cent boost retroactive to March 1, followed by a 2 1/2 cent boost retroactive to Oct. 1.

Meeting the requirements of the new labor act which calls for government-supervised pre-strike votes, the union requested the provincial labor department to name supervisors and 18 officials were appointed.

Vancouver's Last Packing Plant Closes; Hospitals To Be Supplied

By Canadian Press

West coast housewives and restaurants began preparing menus based on eggs, poultry and fish today as striking Packinghouse Workers of America (C.I.O.) closed the Pacific Meat plant in Vancouver today—last of seven plants in that city and New Westminster to be closed by the Dominion-wide packinghouse strike.

The 30-odd members of the plant joined 625 employees of the other six plants in the district who walked out earlier in an hours-and-wage dispute.

Other major developments overnight in Vancouver's troubled labor picture was an announcement by William L. Symington, International Packinghouse Workers' Union representative, that the union would allow the Pacific Meat Company and Gainers Ltd. to supply meat to British Columbia hospitals and the army.

Mr. Symington said all trucks hauling such meat would be required to carry "for hospital use only" labels.

Government conciliators also reported that "little or no" progress had been made toward settlement of the six-week old strikes by 350 steelworkers, 900 furniture workers and 360 boiler-makers.

PICKETS REMOVED

Meanwhile picketing ceased today at two strikebound packing plants in Montreal in the wake of an interim injunction restraining officers and organizers of the United Packinghouse Workers of America (C.I.O.) from such activity.

Advised by police of the court order, U.P.W.A. pickets left the gates of the Canada Packers Ltd. and Wilsell Ltd. plants, which were reopened Thursday.

These developments kept Montreal a centre of interest in the 27-day-old wages strike. The injunction, applied for by legal representatives of the two packinghouse firms, does not apply to a third Montreal concern, Modern Packers Ltd., also strike-bound. Police said picketing continued there today.

Only a handful of men and women turned up at the three Montreal plants and at a Canada Packers plant in Hull, Que., Thursday. The companies said other employees had expressed willingness to work but hesitated to pass through picket lines despite presence of police.

Meantime it was announced in London that with meat shipments from Canada cut off by the strike, Great Britain's two-ounce-a-week bacon ration would be halved starting Oct. 19.

Reopening of the Montreal and Hull plants came as the first major break in the strike called by the U.P.W.A. against Canada Packers, Swift Canadian and Burns and Company to enforce demands for wage increase averaging 17 cents an hour which would bring the basic minimum hourly wage for unskilled workers to 92 cents an hour.

Pennington Named Deputy Provincial Secretary For B.C.

Robert Arthur Pennington, O.B.E., comptroller of expenditure for the provincial government, today was appointed deputy provincial secretary to succeed the late A. Norman Baker.

In making this announcement, Provincial Secretary George S. Pearson said that Mr. Pennington would also serve as superannuation commissioner, commissioner of municipal superannuation, trustee of the municipal superannuation fund, commissioner of teachers' pensions and member of the committee of administration of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway Company superannuation fund.

A native of Forest Hill, Kent, England, Mr. Pennington came to British Columbia in 1923 and joined the provincial civil service in 1924 in connection with an education department survey. He is 54 years of age.

For Rental To War Veterans; No Cost Boost

VANCOUVER (CP)—Reconstruction Minister Howe here this afternoon announced a new deal for municipalities in the building of low-rental housing units for war veterans, and set the target for 1948 at 12,000 units.

Terms will be more favorable to the municipalities, and rents for four, five and six-room houses will range from $27 to $37 a month. The program for 1947, under wartime housing programs, discontinued June 1, called for 8,000 units.

"Arrangements for rental housing projects will be made with the municipality by the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation," Mr. Howe said. "There will be no marked increase in cost over the present wartime housing unit."

Mr. Howe, speaking at a Canadian Club luncheon, said, as in the past, municipalities will be called upon to provide land and services.

WILL PAY EXCESS

If the cost or value of the land and services exceeds $600 per unit, the Dominion will pay the cost of such excess. The standard agreement provided for payment to the municipality in lieu of taxes of $24 for small units and $30 for the larger units.

The new agreement will provide for payments in lieu of taxes up to $70, $75 and $80 on four, five and six-room houses.

The payments more closely approximate the normal tax rate. "Provision will be made that in the event of sale of the unit by the Dominion, the municipality will share equally with the Dominion in proceeds in excess of the amortized value of the investment by the Dominion," he said.

Amortization will be at the rate of 2 1/2 per cent per annum. The provision in the wartime housing agreement permitted the municipality to purchase units for $1,000 after 18 years. This will not be contained in the new agreement.

SHARE PROCEEDS

"In the event the project continuing on a rental basis after the Dominion has amortized the adjusted capital value, then the municipality will share equally with the Dominion the net rental proceeds."

Mr. Howe said projects of this kind cannot be developed by the Dominion alone. The 1945 program is dependent upon the co-operation of the municipalities and the provinces.

Ontario Woman Accused Of Kidnap

HAVELOCK, Ont. (CP)—Police said today that Mrs. Doreen Curry of Havelock has been charged with kidnapping and that one-month-old Lois Susan Hughes, snatched from her carriage on a downtown Toronto street Thursday, was found in Mrs. Curry's house here.

Mrs. Curry was arrested and taken to Peterborough, 25 miles west of here where she was held for Toronto police.

Armies Of 5 Arab States Closing Around Holy Land

BEYROUTH, Lebanon (AP)—Arab League spokesmen said troops of the Arab world were manoeuvring into position tonight to seal off Palestine's frontiers, as the league resumed talks on "military precautionary actions against Zionism."

Premier Riad Bey Es Solh of Lebanon said "our troops have moved to the frontier." Syrian sources said a large contingent of Syria's soldiers were massing on Palestine's northeast border.

Other sources said British-trained troops of King Abdullah's Trans-Jordan were massing at a half-dozen points along the river Jordan. Abdullah's Arab Legion is reputed to be the largest and best-equipped Arab force in the Middle East outside Egypt.

Lebanese War Ministry sources said Fawzi Bey Kaukji, rebel leader of Palestine's Arab revolt of a decade ago, was mobilizing 3,000 guerrillas for movement Sunday to the frontier and "possibly beyond."

NO REPORTS YET

The U.S. military attaché's office here said it had no reports of extensive troop movements.

(A Jewish agency spokesman at Lake Success, N.Y., said the Arab threats "must be regarded as a propaganda manoeuvre" and added "The Jews of Palestine will not be frightened by bluff or bluster.")

To the south, reliable sources said, Egyptian forces were preparing to move into the Sinai Desert, and Saudi Arabian cavalry was reported crossing into Egyptian territory at the invitation of the Egyptian government to participate in cordoning off the Holy Land with a ring of steel.

Emir Magid Arslan, Lebanon's war minister, said "of course we cannot disclose the movements of our forces," but sources close to the War Ministry estimated a mobile force of 2,000 Lebanese soldiers reached the Palestine frontier before dawn today.

Vancouver Narcotic Seizure May Smash Huge Ring

VANCOUVER (CP) — Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers were believed today to have dealt a smashing blow at an international narcotics ring operating across the Pacific Ocean with the seizure here of a large cache of opium valued at $4,648,000 on the black market.

Special police narcotic investigators continued investigations into the seizure made aboard the Dutch freighter Manoran in a North Vancouver drydock Thursday.

It was the second large narcotic haul made aboard a freighter in Vancouver in recent months and the third in the Pacific northwest. Thursday's haul was described as "one of the largest ever made in North America."

Last April R.C.M.P. seized $20,000 worth of illicit opium found in 10 sealed tins aboard the British freighter Suva. On July 18 United States customs agents found $125,000 worth of crude opium cached in the Dutch motorship Mapia in Seattle. The Mapia was searched a few hours after it had cleared from Vancouver.

IN FAR EAST TRADE

Both the Mapia and the Manoran are operated by the Stoemv Neat Nederland Line between Pacific coast and East Asia ports. Both cleared from Calcutta for Vancouver.

Although official confirmation was lacking, experienced waterfront observers said they believed an international opium ring was using Vancouver as a distributing centre for North America.

These seizures, without parallel in the Pacific coast since October, 1937—when the huge narcotic conspiracy of Gordon Lim resulted in a Canadian mission being sent to take evidence in the Far East—may stem from operations of the same gang, waterfront observers said.

They based their supposition on the fact that the same methods now are being used by the gang, whose activities ranged all over the Pacific, with headquarters in China.

They pointed out that the ring, knowing ships from the Far East call at all Pacific coast ports for cargo, leave the "dope" hidden on the ship until an opportune time presents itself to remove it at one of the coastal calls.

STRUNG ALONG COAST

They suggested the ring extended all along the Pacific coast from Vancouver to San Francisco.

Police said 415 pounds of opium was discovered on the Manoran Thursday hidden in several packages cached in a winch. They refused to divulge details of the discovery. They also would not reveal whether the opium, which has a legal value of $46,650, was discovered by police investigators checking the vessel or drydock workers repairing it.

R.C.M.P. said the ship carried Indian seamen and Dutch officers. Police said the prevailing black market opium price on the west coast was $8. for five grains. There are 7,000 grains to a pound of opium.

Asked if arrests were contemplated in connection with the seizure, or if action would be taken against the owners of the vessel, police said they would "make no comment pending completion of investigations."

TORONTO GANGSTERS BUSY

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto Globe and Mail said in a newspaper story today that "gangsters with an eye on the fat profits currently being made in Toronto's narcotic drugs traffic are attempting to muscle in on the illicit trade."

The story said that efforts of these "gangsters" Thursday brought a sudden halt in the "constant flow of dope being distributed from Montreal to the Pacific coast."

"Toughened criminals" were threatening to wipe out the higher-ups in the drug racket unless they are given a share of the business or yield to what is known as a "shake-down," the story said.

Leaders in the control of narcotic-peddling in Toronto were said to have been "talled by gunmen" for weeks past. With forbidden drug sales strictly on a hide-and-seek cash basis "just how much money has been secured recently in these daring raids is not known, as victims are too frightened to as much as whisper to the police."

$16,000,000 Aid For Prairie Farmers

REGINA (CP) — Benefits totaling approximately $16,000,000 will be paid prairie farmers this year under provisions of the Prairie Farm Assistance Act, Agriculture Minister Gardiner estimated in an interview here.

This would be the highest for any year since the P.F.A.A. was instituted except 1941, when a similar amount was paid. But in 1941 benefits were paid on the basis of an average yield of 12 bushels an acre and the present basis was eight bushels an acre, he said.

Approximately 1,891 applications for assistance had been received from Saskatchewan, 1,400 from Alberta and 200 from Manitoba, he said.

Navy Pays Last Respects To Seaman In Sea Burial

Naval Chaplain F. M. Godfrey, R.C.N., reads the funeral service over the body.

The casket, bearing P.O. A. Brash's body is committed to the deep from destroyer's deck.

Former shipmates pay last respects to their comrade as they cast out wreaths over burial spot.

The Canadian destroyer Crescent hove to off Race Rocks and after a brief, solemn committal service, the casket bearing the body of St. P.O. Alexander Brash, R.C.N., was committed to the sea in the first sea burial to be made from an R.C.N. vessel off the Pacific Coast.

Then, Crescent swung back over the spot and wreaths of flowers were thrown into the sea by six former messmates as the Thursday morning service came to an end.

The solemn ceremony began at 9 in the morning when the body of P.O. Brash was brought to the gates of H.M.C.S. Naden. There is met by a guard, band and gun carriage. The cortege moved slowly past the gates and down to dockside where the destroyer waited to carry the body out to sea.

A guard of honor, bearing reversed arms, preceded the gun carriage which was flanked by the six former messmates of the seaman. Following the carriage in a car was the wife of the 29-year-old petty officer who had married her less than a year before. At home was a baby girl who was born only two weeks ago to the young navy couple.

While the guard, band and mourners from Esquimalt-based ships lined the dockside, six pallbearers carried the casket and its Union Jack aboard ship where a guard waited with reversed arms.

The relatives and other friends followed and stood near by as Padre F. M. Godfrey read the funeral service and the Naden band softly played "Eternal Father" and "Abide With Me."

The service over, the family returned ashore and turned to watch the ship as she was readied for sea. As Crescent pulled away from the dock, one of the last things seen by those aboard was the pathetic figure of the young wife as she raised her hand to wave goodbye.

Gathering speed as she left the harbor, Crescent shortly reached the area where the body was to be committed. As she hove to, Padre Godfrey read the

Wooden, Gas-Lit Coaches Added To Dugald Wreck Toll, Says Jury

WINNIPEG (CP) — Use of wooden, constructed, gas-lit coaches was held Thursday night by a coroner's jury to have added greatly to the death toll at Dugald, Man., last Sept. 1 when a Canadian National Railways' holiday special piled head-on into an east-bound transcontinental train with a resultant loss of 31 lives.

Non-observance of railway rules by those in charge of the special was said by the jury to have been the specific cause for the mishap, greatest in western Canada's railroading history.

The jury, concluding an inquest which had lasted three nights, recommended such wooden coaches as had comprised most of the special's cars be discontinued "on any main line or crowded holiday train" and that wooden coaches be eliminated entirely when steel equipment became available.

FIND CONFUSION

The verdict, returned after one hour and 45 minutes of deliberation, also quoted the jurymen as being "convinced certain confusion exists among train crews and signal operators as to the signal and block system employed at Dugald," 20 miles east of Winnipeg, "particularly as pertaining to clearance of west-bound trains into the block."

It urged introduction of a signal system which would give adequate protection to all trains and also that the railroad take "immediate steps to see that all operating rules are thoroughly understood by the running trades—train personnel—and strictly obeyed at all times."

The jury returned its verdict after 48 witnesses had been heard, including Donald F. Tedlie, signals operator at Dugald the night of the wreck, who engaged in several spirited skirmishes with C. W. Tupper, counsel for the Manitoba Attorney-General's department, during his 45 minutes on the stand.

Tedlie said that at all times during the evening the collision took place his actions had been in line with regulations laid down in the rule book.

GIVEN PROTECTION

Before giving evidence, he was granted protection of the court under the Canada Evidence Act, this being requested by his counsel, who said Tedlie was out on bail after having been arrested on a coroner's warrant.

There was no immediate indication following the inquest what disposition would be made of the warrant.

Grants, Donations To Enable
Zeballos Hospital To Reopen

ZEBALLOS — The Zeballos Hospital, closed when the gold mines ceased operating during the war, is to be reopened late this month as a result of grants from the provincial government and private sources.

Originally built and operated by the Canadian Red Cross Society, the hospital will be operated by the Zeballos Hospital Society and will reopen when services of a matron and nurses are obtained.

Nearly $6,000 of the $10,000 needed to equip the hospital has been raised and an intensive drive is under way to raise the remainder.

Dr. G. T. Ulrich has been appointed medical superintendent; H. Hewat is chairman; Fred Manning, vice-president; J. Whalley, secretary; Maj. George Nicholson, chairman of the finance committee and provincial government representative on the board of directors.

The hospital will serve the gold mines and logging camps at Zeballos and the area embracing Nootka Sound and Kyoquot Sound in which are located the Gibson mill at Tahsis, canneries at Nootka, Ceepeece and Hecate, and the salmon fishing centres of Queen's Cove and Kyoquot.

A women's auxiliary has been formed with Mrs. S. Witton as president and Mrs. Crabbe, secretary.

Principal donation to the hospital are $2,000 from the government and $2,000 from Manning Timber Products Ltd.

8 Entrants Qualify
For Tyee Club Derby

PORT ALBERNI — With qualifying rounds to close Saturday at noon, excitement in the race for a spot in the big annual Port Alberni Tyee Club Derby on Sunday is mounting.

Already 68 of the regulation number of 75 entrants have qualified. Qualifying catches range from 51½ pounds down to 20½ pounds, and some eliminations are expected before the deadline.

The five prizes offered, including an inbound motor for first, will be presented at a banquet at Rosebank night club on the evening of Derby Day. Winner of the derby will become official holder for the year of the Rose Bowl Trophy, donated by the Port Alberni Social Club. Club pins and other trophies will go to those ranking high in the derby.

Sea Cadet Group
For Alberni Area

PORT ALBERNI — Formation of a sea cadet group here in the next few weeks has been announced by the Alberni district branch of the Navy League of Canada.

The decision was made at a reorganization meeting of the group attended by Navy League officials from Victoria and executives of the local organization.

Chairman H. E. Young stressed the need of a sea cadet corps at Port Alberni, a seaport town. He said it would keep boys off the streets and create a better community spirit among them, besides instructing them in the traditions of the sea.

Local officials present were H. E. Young, president; P. Sowerby, vice-president; J. W. Lord, secretary-treasurer, and G. Crozier. From Victoria were F. L. Shaw, president of the Vancouver Island Division of the Navy League of Canada; Col. T. Moore, executive secretary of the island division; and Dennis Brown, sea cadet organizer.

Mr. Sowerby offered his showrooms as accommodation for formation and training of sea cadets. It is expected a meeting of all interested boys will be called shortly.

To Unveil Alberni
Centaph Nov. 11

ALBERNI — Official unveiling of the new Centaph, now under construction beside the Somass Branch of the Canadian Legion at Alberni, is scheduled for Armistice Day.

Plans are under way for a joint parade of the Alberni and Port Alberni legions to the Centaph, where Armistice services and first unfurling of the flag on a new flag pole will take place.

100 Housing Units
For Port Alberni

VANCOUVER (CP)—Port Alberni will receive 100 of 200 Port Orchard housing units being shipped from Washington to Vancouver Island, it was learned here today.

Shipped 50 at a time by barge, the first consignment is expected to be delivered within 10 days.

Port Alberni Firm
To Build Theatre
At Parksville

PORT ALBERNI — Mrs. L. Warren of Warren Theatres Ltd., Port Alberni, has announced the firm will build a 350-seat theatre at Parksville.

Although no date for start of construction has been set, an architect is working on plans, and the Warren firm expects completion some time next spring.

A pioneer in the theatre business of the Alberni valley, Mrs. Warren recently disposed of her three theatres in the twin cities to Famous Players Corporation. She is associated in business with her son, Harold, who now manages the theatres in the Alberni.

Estimated cost of the Parksville project is $45,000.

$11,047 For Garbage
Trucks Approved

PORT ALBERNI — Purchase of two garbage trucks at cost of $11,047 for the city's proposed new collection service was approved by city council Monday.

Ald. A. Flanagan opposed the purchase on grounds that a different make of truck than contemplated would be more in line with equipment already owned by the city. It was explained that the type to be ordered offers a saving of $2,000, and little difficulty would be met obtaining parts.

The move follows protests several weeks ago by the Port Alberni Ratepayers' Association on the present garbage system, which was claimed inadequate. Following recommendations of a report by City Clerk F. L. Kitto, council decided to install a system requiring annual payments by property-owners per container serviced. Similar systems are operated at Nanaimo and Ladysmith, Mr. Kitto had reported.

Delivery of the trucks is looked for before the end of the year, and start of the system has been announced as likely in January.

Port Alberni Hits
New Building High

PORT ALBERNI — In his monthly report to the city council, Building Inspector W. Venables stated that to date Port Alberni's building figures have reached a new high.

So far this year the figures have reached $1,156,600, compared with $1,152,505 at the same date last year.

He noted the following for the past month: Four new dwellings, $13,000; six dwelling alterations, $3,700; one hotel (progress report), $100,000; one store alteration, $1,500; C.P.R. dock, $48,000; Dry Creek Bridge, $15,000; comfort station, $4,000; miscellaneous, $300; total, $185,800.

All Penitentiary
Rules Tightened

OTTAWA (CP) — Maj. Gen. R. B. Gibson, commissioner of penitentiaries, said Thursday that as a result of the break Aug. 13 of three long-term convicts at Portsmouth penitentiary administration of all Canada's federal penitentiaries had been drastically tightened.

The escape of Mickey McDonald, Toronto; Ulysses Laumon, Windsor, and Nicholas Minille, Ottawa, showed the weakness of the "human element" in penitentiary and remedial steps were necessary.

Three weeks ago Gen. Gibson announced that deputy warden L. H. Millard had been placed on leave pending retirement and three other officers had been dismissed. Disciplinary action has been taken against five others for "slackness" in the performance of their duties.

700 Wartime Houses

VANCOUVER (CP)—Approximately 700 wartime houses, to rent for less than $30 per month each to servicemen, will be built immediately in East Vancouver at a cost of $3,000,000.

Agreement on the project was reached Thursday at a conference attended by Reconstruction Minister Howe, city council members and D. B. Mansur, head of the federal government's Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation. Mr. Howe told council that should the city propose similar projects—even this season—the government is prepared to negotiate.

Construction on the 700-house project is to start "within two weeks" if legal formalities can be completed. The plan will be financed over a 40-year period.

DISCORD SUITS RUSSIA'S BOOK

THOSE MEMBER STATES OF THE United Nations whose sole object is to make sure that there shall be no more war are faced with the prospect of deciding what to do with the Balkan problem in the light of the Soviet Union's flat refusal to lend her support to what is termed a watch-dog commission.

Regardless of anything the spokesmen for the Kremlin may say at Lake Success—and the major part of their contributions to the current deliberations has been anything but helpful—the general public of all peace-loving countries is veering to the view that the Politburo, now supported by the rejuvenated Comintern, has no practical interest in the removal of a condition in southeastern Europe which is just as inflammable at this stage as it has been at any time in the last half century.

Frequent references in the regimented press of Russia to British and American imperialism, of course, no longer arouses the ire of democratic peoples. Parrot-like repetition soon loses its effect. But what must strike Canadians, Britons, and Americans as strange in the extreme is the near-religious fervor which a few radio commentators and newspaper columnists impart to their outpourings against the western democracies. And apropos the Balkan problem, incidentally, Britain has been accused of backing the "rich men" of Greece who are allegedly supporting what is regarded in some pro-Communist quarters as an utterly reactionary government in Athens. It would be interesting if some of these armchair wise-aces so remote from and only vaguely acquainted with the Mediterranean political scene would give details of the wordy possessions upon which the Greeks in question are supposed to be fattening.

What is crystal clear at the moment, however, is that Russia frowns upon any improvement in the international domain calculated to cramp her program of aggrandizement. If she desires to remove this rapidly-growing impression, her course of action is simple. The men in charge at the Kremlin could instruct spokesmen Vishinsky and Gromyko at Lake Success to speak and act accordingly.

A VETERAN RETIRES

THE RETIREMENT OF HON. GROTE Stirling, the representative in the House of Commons for nearly a quarter of a century for the constituency of Yale, B.C., removes from the public life of this Dominion a man who has served his adopted country with ability and devotion. The son of Scottish parents, although born in England, Mr. Stirling came to Canada in 1911 to follow his profession of civil engineering—later the growing of fruit. He entered the Commons under the Conservative banner in 1924, winning a by-election caused by the death of the sitting member. Ten years later he became a member of the Privy Council and was appointed Minister of National Defence in the cabinet of the late Hon. R. B. Bennett. Losing office as a result of the Conservative administration's defeat in the general election of 1935, Mr. Stirling was re-elected in 1940 and has held the seat continuously since.

Indifferent health during the past few months has led the 72-year-old member to follow the advice of his physician and seek more ease. These columns have at times disagreed with the political opinions of Mr. Stirling, but they have never failed—nor have the representatives on both sides of the House—to acknowledge his excellent qualities of leadership and personal worth. He will carry into retirement the best wishes of his province and his country in universal recognition of a good Canadian.

BRITAIN'S BACON RATION

BECAUSE OF THE STRIKE OF PACK-house workers in Canada, the British Ministry of Food announced last night that, as of October 19 next, Britain's bacon ration of two ounces a week will be reduced to one ounce. But unless new shipments can be sent overseas within a very short time, no further bacon may be available to Britons for some weeks. It is not necessary to elaborate on this dubious prospect to understand how relatively well off the people of the Western Hemisphere are. To be sure, food and other commodities on this continent are in short supply; but it will nevertheless be freely admitted that no section of the public on this side of the Atlantic has gone, or is likely to go, hungry.

In the foregoing connection, incidentally, the comparison between the availability of rationed foods in the United States and Great Britain is worthy of study. For example, while the American consumes on an average seven and a half pints of milk a week, the Briton may buy no more than two pints; one egg per person per week is permitted in Great Britain against the consumption of eight eggs per person in the United States; other food commodities are noted in the official statistics as follows, the first amount being the weekly ration allowance per person in Great Britain, and the second the per capita consumption in the United States: Meat, 18 oz. and 95 oz.; bread, 63 oz. and 83 oz.; sugar, 10 oz. and 29 oz.; butter and other fats, 7 oz. and 14 oz. And so it goes all down the line.

None is disposed to advance the argument that the general ration in Great Britain imposes a caloric content insufficient for minimum nutritional purposes. But it stands to reason that so long as there remains an inadequate supply and variety in foodstuffs, a grim and monotonous daily menu is bound, in the long run, to have a deleterious effect on the mental health of a people. These are the people who, for seven or eight years, have been obliged to grit their teeth and suffer the consequences of war and its aftermath of which we in this and other more fortunate parts of the world have only the vaguest conception.

HAS HE BEEN THERE?

FROM A READER OF THE TIMES IN this city we have received a letter telling us that there is scarcely an item "on the U.S.S.R. that does not betray either our ignorance or malice aforethought." We are then informed as follows:

"If you have any concern about world peace, it is time you stopped this anti-Russian slant in your news and editorials."

There are many points about Russian policy on which we may be more or less ignorant. It is quite possible, moreover, that the gentleman from whose letter we quote, who accuses us of this ignorance, may not have been able to penetrate into the workings of the Soviet system of government any farther than we have. But when he says we give an anti-Russian slant to news with respect to doings in the U.S.S.R.—a soft impeachment we do not acknowledge—we merely suggest to him that he consider the material contained in dispatches from Moscow which categorically set forth statements that appear in such official Communistic organs as Pravda and Izvestia. He should know that nothing may appear in any Russian newspaper unless it is approved and authorized by the men in charge at the Kremlin.

We quite understand that those people in this country and in other parts of the vast area situated to the west of the "iron curtain" find themselves in somewhat of a predicament when the regimented Soviet press gives prominence to statements respecting conditions of life in the western democracies so far devoid of truth that not even the most enthusiastic fellow traveler finds it easy to swallow them.

What we have never been able to understand is why these people who seem to regard the Soviet Union as the Promised Land do not take a one-way ticket to Moscow, stay there, and then tell the poor benighted folk of this fair Dominion how working and living conditions under Communist rule compare with those obtaining in Canada.

GUARDING THE PRINCIPLE

RECENT EVENTS IN THE UNITED States, where a growing uneasiness over the actions of visiting Communist journalists covering United Nations meetings has led to the imposition of restrictions resembling those in effect on foreign newsmen in Russia, provide emphasis for the remarks made by Manitoba's Premier Stuart Garson in Toronto this week. The prairie premier told a gathering of Liberal businessmen that the principle of free speech and a free press places certain obligations on those countries in which it is practiced. Subversive agents who would destroy free speech, Communist zealots whose political beliefs—if put into practice—would throttle the press and reduce it to an agency of government propaganda, must be permitted the same freedom to publicize their views as anyone else enjoys. This is a difficult point to acknowledge at times, Mr. Garson pointed out. It is hard to give the enemies of free speech full use of that medium to circulate their nefarious doctrines. But he made it plain: "We either have freedom of speech and of the press or we do not. We must acquiesce in its disadvantages."

This is a condition which can only be understood in a democratic country. In the totalitarian state the proposition that opponents of the existing system should be given freedom to assert their beliefs is dismissed as obviously nonsense. But it lies at the roots of our own freedom. Public opinion is the judge under democracy; there is no autocrat to declare categorically what is right and what is wrong. The only way in which the public may be placed in a position to judge the acceptability of an idea or doctrine is to permit its proponents to put it before them, by direct speech, by the printed word, or on the platform. On the extent of the people's education, on their moral sense and their concept of the good life, their decision will then rest. That is freedom of speech in theory and practice. The anomaly that it continually endangers its own existence by fostering those who would kill it can be no argument against doing our utmost to preserve it. If this right should die, little would survive it.

Matter Of Fact

By STEWART ALSOP

TRY, TRY AGAIN

PRESIDENT HARRY S. TRUMAN, the State Department, and the Administration advisers have decided to try again. They will try to find some way to squeeze a few millions of dollars out of the vast sums which Congress has appropriated for other purposes to keep western Europe ticking over until Congress is ready to act.

Already, a thorough job of combing over the various possibilities has been done. As a result it has been reported to the President that only Congressional action could provide the necessary dollars. But now, the order has come from the White House to start the combing process again, and to comb more thoroughly. The reason is simple. Congressional action will almost certainly come too late. And the President and his advisers know it.

THE PRESENT SCHEDULE of Congressional action was established at last week's White House meeting between the Administration and Congressional leaders. It calls for completion of the Harriman report by the first week in November; the hearings of the Senate Foreign Relations, House Foreign Affairs, and Senate and House Appropriations committees to be finished by Dec. 1; a special session to be called in the first week of December; and the necessary appropriations for France and Italy to be voted by Christmas.

This is more a catalogue of hopes than a schedule. For one thing it assumes that the bull-headed representative John Taber, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, can somehow be persuaded that the European crisis is something more than a plot to wreck Republican tax and budget plans.

IT WAS HOPED THAT first hand experience of Europe might force Taber to face the facts of the European situation. Thus Taber's recent statement, which seemed to indicate that nothing short of visible mass starvation would persuade him of the need for action, has filled the Administration policy makers with gloomy forebodings.

Yet even if Taber, who almost succeeded single-handed in wrecking American policy in the Near East, is somehow hypnotized into realizing the real meaning of the European crisis to the United States, only the first of a series of hurdles will have been crossed. As Senator Arthur Vandenberg is reported to have pointed out to President Truman at last week's conference, as few as six or seven Senators opposed to the interim aid appropriation, could easily delay it indefinitely.

THERE WOULD BE NO NEED to filibuster. They could merely present themselves in the role of defenders of the right of the American Senate to debate any major issue thoroughly. The debate might last well into the new year. Moreover, the die-hard Senators would find a useful ally in the creeping domestic inflation. Many politicians, busily seeking a scapegoat for high prices, are increasingly tempted to point the finger of blame at foreign spending.

Yet assume that the hoped-for best comes to pass. Assume that by Dec. 25, the Congress has appropriated the 580 millions for which the President asked. This figure itself is believed to be hardly a quarter what Under-Secretary of State Will Clayton cabled from Europe would be necessary to do the job, and it is certainly some hundreds of millions of dollars less than the State Department estimate. There is some disposition in Washington to suspect that President Truman pulled the figure out of his natty grey fedora. Yet even if the amount appropriated is not too little, the action will come too late.

UNLESS SOMETHING IS DONE very soon, the pipelines to Europe would already have been empty for a month by Dec. 25, as Under-Secretary of State Robert Lovell has acknowledged. They could not be filled again overnight. Thus, even if President Truman's Congressional schedule is adhered to, the two grimmest months of the European winter, December and January, would usher in mass unemployment and something close to starvation. The slowly recovering economies of Italy and France would receive a setback from which they might never recover. And the political results in western Europe would be almost mathematically calculable. The inclusion of France and Italy with the Soviet puppets in the Kremlin's new International reveal how confidently the Kremlin is calculating on these results.

That is why the Administration's lawyers and experts have been told to go back and try again to find some means—almost any means—of getting dollars to Europe without preliminary Congressional sanction.

TO THIS END A NEW series of conferences is about to start. The Export Import Bank, the Commodity Credit Corporation, the frozen holdings of European nationals in this country, these and other possible sources of dollar aid will again be carefully scrutinized. Possibly informal Congressional sanction will be requested before anything is done. Even so, as one Administration adviser remarked, "it will take a lot of pulling and stretching of the original Congressional intent." Certainly, if ever before in American history, a bit of "pulling and stretching" can be justified. Copyright, 1947, New York Herald Tribune Inc.

Not Through The Woods Yet

Dollars And Policies, Past And Present

By JAMES THRASHER, from New York

LOOKING forward to the day when the Marshall plan shall become the "Marshall operation," Senator Byrd has called for an accounting. He wants to know how an estimated $20,000,000,000 was spent on foreign aid in the past two years, and the results. He also wants to know what specific results are expected from forthcoming expenditures under the Marshall plan.

The request for a bill of particulars on future aid seems a good idea. The general objectives of such aid are already known—the alleviation of current critical hardships, the restoration of Europe's economy, the stabilization of currencies, the support of free governments against Communism.

HOW MUCH AND WHY?

Other information that Mr. Byrd seeks, may be implicit in the report of the 16-nation European Economic Conference. But a desirable addition would be a list of what particular sums are expected to achieve, as well as a lump-sum total of the money to be requested. The economy-minded senator from Virginia is not necessarily displaying opposition to the Marshall plan when he asks for an accounting. Surely no American wants to see his government write a blank cheque for Europe. A requisition for several billion dollars should be justified as well as itemized, even though results cannot be guaranteed. Such a requisition might speed final action when Congress meets to debate the aid-to-Europe program.

THERE WAS WASTE

There is less promise, and perhaps less point, in Mr. Byrd's demand for an accounting of the last two years' spending in Europe, even though there are good reasons why the accounting should be made. It can be said in advance that it would disclose some dismaying information. There has undoubtedly been some appalling wastage of American funds, but the fault does not lie entirely with the American government.

It was certain when the war ended that the United States, untouched by battle and possessing great wealth in money and productive capacity, would have to help Europe. The victorious and occupied countries there found themselves exhausted and confused. The conquered nations were a responsibility, as well as a liability. A new start had to be made from near ruin. America's first efforts to help may also have been confused, but there scarcely was time for detailed planning. Political differences were secondary; here were hungry, ill-clad, homeless people.

POSITIVE NOW

But for the Soviet government, their policies would still be of minor importance. The American government was reluctant to accept the political challenge. It hesitated to admit that aggression and threats to free government did not end with the Nazis' defeat. It was Moscow's decision, not Washington's, that the Communist governments would not participate in a united effort toward Europe's reconstruction.

American foreign policy in the past two years may seem awkward and fumbling. Mistakes, arising from motives of decency and from a desire to trust and co-operate until trust and co-operation were shown to be impossible, may have been made. But now, American policy is positive. The "Marshall operation," if and when, will probably cost considerably less than the largely non-political aid of the past two years. America is now headed because she has to be. But her earlier warm-heartedness, while expensive, is nothing to be ashamed of.

Free Markets—A Natural Balance

By R. J. DEACHMAN

EVERY little while someone pops up with the idea that price control should be with us always, a part of our national policy. This is a most fatuous conception. The free market price is not a product of accident, nor is it a fiat of arbitrary control. It is the result of the bargaining of producers and consumers, one trying to buy at the lowest market price, the other trying to get as much as possible for his product.

If there are more goods for sale than the markets can absorb, sellers must lower their prices to increase sales. Lower prices increase consumption. When goods become scarce, the buyers offer higher prices which encourage greater production. It is thus that the supply of goods is adjusted to demand and the world supplied with its needs.

INFLUENCE

In such a market, every seller and every buyer, no matter where located, has an influence, and he exercises that influence in favor of higher or lower prices every time he accepts or rejects the goods offered, the prices asked.

Those who would abolish the free market and establish price control in its place should first consider how they intend to do the work now done by the market. What machinery will they set up to keep the producers informed as to what the consumers want, and what measures will they take to see that such goods are produced?

The only answer the advocates of price control make to this question is, that a board will be set up to control prices, and such board will have authority to plan and direct the production and distribution of all the goods and all the services our people use.

CONTROL TASK

Consider for a moment the task that would confront such a board. Either it would have to find a price for each and every commodity, high enough to call forth the production of sufficient supply and low enough to be within reach of the means of the buyers, or it would have to decide itself how much of each and every commodity the people would be allowed to have, and to instruct each and every producer exactly what he must produce.

In either case the country's supply of every commodity, even the most vital, would be entirely dependent on the judgment of a small group of men who would be saddled with a task that has never been attempted, except in totalitarian countries, and, where attempted, has led to decline of industry, scarcity of commodities or war.

MONOPOLY AND FREEDOM

The world supply of commodities is far too important to be entrusted to the judgment of any group of men, no matter how able or conscientious they may be. Given the opportunity, men may try to establish monopolistic prices to the detriment of their fellow men. But the remedy for monopolies is not to establish an overall monopoly backed by the power of the police, but to make smooth the path of greater production and exchange. In this manner the market adjusts the efforts of producers and the needs of the consumers. The consumers, in the end, are supreme. Production depends upon demand.

GOOD VALUE

Washington Post
Still, it is a comforting thought that in these times of inflation the spectators got a good deal for their money in the World Series, if not in the way of baseball, in other assorted excitements, especially in the later innings. It was not, to be sure (judged by either technical or esthetic standards) very much of a series—but they say, alas, that it isn't much of a world either.

Global Survey

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

THE word has been pretty thoroughly spread by this time that the Communist Comintern, or Third International, has been overhauled and set running full speed again and that, as United States Attorney-General Tom Clark puts it, this action serves notice "of the relentless campaign being waged to spread totalitarian dominance throughout Europe—and later throughout the world."

The average citizen knows that much, but how many understand just what the Comintern is—beyond the fact that it is a "fearsome organization which works largely under a cloak of secrecy? Probably not many, so let's take a look at this mysterious collection of high-ranking Communists:

In order to understand the Comintern we must go back a bit. Russian Communism isn't the original brand conceived centuries ago. The initial envisagement was that of a state in which all means of production were communalized for the benefit of the whole population. It was one for all and all for one in every walk of activity.

Then along came Karl Marx, among others, and added as an essential of Communism that it must be inaugurated by a revolution of force. Russian Communism, as laid down by Lenin, emphasized this and insisted that a reign of terror was essential in order to impress the proletariat properly. Thus was born Bolshevism, which is the terroristic arm of Communism, and is synonymous in modern day Red parlance.

But Bolshevism as taught by Lenin and Stalin and the other old Bolsheviks wasn't intended for Russia alone. They had a whole world and they appropriately labelled this idea "world revolution."

The next step was obvious. There must be a Bolshevik organization of experts who would act as a general staff for world revolution. So the Third International—or Comintern, was created. Its business was to pick the soft spots for revolution and engineer the upheavals.

The Comintern quickly got into action with its terrible and bloody program. There was the awful upheaval headed by Bela Kun in Hungary in 1919—a plot which failed of its objective. There were other strong-arm movements, but in most countries the initial effort was in the form of intensive propaganda, calculated to win supporters for Communism and create class warfare.

Bolshevism even invaded great democracies like those of America and Britain, and huge amounts of Russian money, badly needed at home, were lavished on the world revolution. Even Crown jewels of the massacred royal family were sold for funds to support the schemes of the Comintern. The Reds got so bold and troublesome that the United States withheld recognition of the Soviet Union until 1933 when Roosevelt acceded it upon Red pledges to behave. There was a long period when Britain refused to deal with the Bolsheviks.

The efforts of actual revolution were reduced to a minimum in 1925 after Stalin came to power. As I have explained in other articles, Trotsky wanted to go ahead with world revolution but Stalin decided to shelve it until Russia had become strong industrially and militarily when it could be resumed. That program was carried out.

The Comintern quietly submerged itself while Soviet diplomats spread the joyful gospel of peace to anesthetize the intended victims of Bolshevism. However, the Comintern was far from dead, although Moscow threw the world a sop in '43 by announcing the disbandment of that body.

The Third International bided its time. That time has come, and we see the general staff for world revolution in full swing once more.

PRIDE IN PRODUCTION

Windsor Star
Egg prices have gone up, but this is one instance where the producer cannot be accused of profiteering. Biddy is not concerned with the trafficking of the market place. Her concentration is on supply, and each day's yield gives a big lift to her ego. Here, certainly, is one worker who takes pride in her craftsmanship.

Indian Situation Reviewed Before Rotary Members

Now that Britain has come out of India, it is up to the Indians to look after themselves, Col. E. Parker, retired British army officer who spent most of his army days in India, told the Victoria Rotary Club at a meeting Thursday when he spoke on "India, Past and Present."

Col. Parker noted, however, that there were many elements at work to foster discontent amongst the various religious groups in the country, and said only if these outside influences were kept away could India settle down to rule itself.

The speaker said of the two new dominions, India and Pakistan, the former had most advantages for success. The dominion of Pakistan, he said, lacks money and brains and is likely to become "just another Afghanistan."

The country itself is a land of contrasts, the speaker said. In its one and one-half million square miles live 410,000,000 million people — one-fifth the population of the world. Of this great mass, only 1 per cent are literate of the English language and, even more startling, only 3 per cent are literate of their own language.

There are 45 races of people in India and 160 languages are spoken. Yet, there is little attention given to race distinction. What does count is religion.

Col. Parker explained that the Hindus have the oldest scriptures in the world. It is over 4,000 years old. Originally, the Hindu caste system called for four castes—priests, soldiers, merchants and agriculturists. Through the years, however, they have added hundreds of other castes to their set-up. A Hindu has little or no social contact with anyone outside his own caste level.

The Hindu religion itself does not call for relief in any particular theory but does require its followers to abide strictly to Hindu practices and ceremonies. Hindus have only one wife and they are not allowed divorces.

Mohammedans are a fighting people, the speaker continued. Their religious belief is somewhat like that of Christians or Jews inasmuch as it worships the god of Israel. Mohammedans have no caste system but men are allowed to have four wives and divorce is permitted.

Sikhs believe in a fanatical rule of life and they live by their book, the speaker said.

Court Dismisses Conspiracy Appeal

Michael Melnyk, Vancouver furniture dealer, will have to serve his sentence of two years in the penitentiary as the result of a decision of the Court of Appeal which dismissed his appeal against a conviction on a charge of conspiring to defraud the Department of Veterans Affairs.

Melnyk was convicted by a Vancouver magistrate for co-operating with a veteran, James Bustin, in a plot to charge the Veterans Affairs Department for furniture which he claimed had been sold to the returned soldier.

Magistrate W. W. B. McInnes, who presided at the trial, described the case as "the first of its kind to be exposed in Vancouver."

The appeal of Dennis G. Conibear, a Vancouver youth, against a conviction of theft, was allowed by the court and the conviction quashed. Henry Castillou, K.C., represented the appellant, Joseph McKenna was Crown counsel.

Former Saanich Man Dies At Kamloops

John Ralph Michell, 86, eldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Michell of South Saanich, died in Royal Inland Hospital, Kamloops, Saturday.

A native of Swansea, Mr. Michell came round the Horn with his parents when an infant. He had resided at Kamloops for the past 59 years.

He is survived by his second wife, Emma, Kamloops; one daughter, Mrs. Willard Ross; two sons, Bert and Charles, and five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren, all of Kamloops. Two sisters, Mrs. P. Morley of Victoria and Mrs. M. Smith of North Saanich, and two brothers, George T. Michell and William D. Michell of Saanich, also survive.

200 TONS OF COAL SAVED IN A YEAR

Today, an engineer showed your J-M reporter some factory reports on fuel savings made possible by Johns-Manville Insulations. Two hundred tons of coal saved in one plant in a single year—15,000 gallons of oil in another.

Two things make such huge fuel savings possible. The right insulation—and its correct application. That's why Johns-Manville Insulation Applicators are carefully trained for this work. They are experts in the art of saving fuel. They know the J-M insulating material best suited for each job—and they know how to apply it!

This combination of skillful men and quality materials saves industry millions of dollars every year in fuel. If you have an insulation problem in your plant, why not get in touch with Canadian Johns-Manville, 1206 Homer St., Vancouver.

S.P.C.A. To Take Libel Action Before Court Of Appeal

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals filed notice of appeal in Supreme Court Thursday against a judgment of Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane, who awarded damages amounting to $1,500 to Mrs. H. M. Melish, proprietor of commercial dog kennels.

Mr. Justice Macfarlane apportioned a sum of $1,000 against James Barr, president of the S.P.C.A., and $500 against John L. Weeks and Donald Hamer, inspectors, for the publication to the Saanich Council of an alleged "false" report regarding the condition of Mrs. Melish's dog kennels.

The appeal against the judgment is based mainly on the question of the privilege S.P.C.A. officials have in making confidential reports and on the admission of evidence at the trial. The appeal also claims that the trial judge erred in finding that malice prompted the defendants to publish the letter.

Robert Harvey, K.C., is counsel for the society and H. W. Davey, K.C., represents Mrs. Melish.

Rare Lizard Dies In Captivity

The rare cobalt blue tail skink, better known as "Slim," who was kept in captivity at the Provincial Museum, died after a prolonged hunger strike, Art Coates, attendant, said today.

The skink, which belonged to the lizard family, was captured in the Kootenay district and was kept in a glass case at the museum. He refused to eat, however, and this eventually led to his death. The reptile had a blue-colored tail and was a source of attraction to visitors.

Museum authorities said the reptile had been "pickled" and would eventually be replaced by a life-sized model made of wax.

If Newfoundland Joins Canada Revenue At $20,185,000; Outlays $26,000,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Part of the picture of what would be involved if Newfoundland should join Canada as a 10th province was sketched today in a 300-page document which contained a mass of detail, but only passing reference to possible financial terms of union.

The document, released simultaneously here and in St. John's, represented a summary of the proceedings at meetings between Newfoundland and Canadian representatives from June 25 to Sept. 29. The meetings ended with External Affairs Minister St. Laurent's announcement that the financial terms would not be disclosed by the Canadian government until some time between Oct. 21 and Nov. 15.

EXTENSIVE BACKGROUND

Meantime, the bulky document, containing much in the way of background on the operations of a federal system of government, brought out these points:

1. The federal government estimates its annual revenue from the island would amount to $20,185,000, but its taxation agreement payments, old age pensions, family allowances and other departmental expenditures alone would amount to about $26,000,000.

2. Newfoundland, as a province, could raise annually an estimated $9,600,000, including a $5,111,756 taxation agreement payment from the Dominion, but would spend $14,500,000 for provincial services.

3. Questions pertaining to the payment of a special subsidy, similar to those paid the Maritime Provinces, and to the extent that Canada would take over the island's net direct debt of $69,613,359, remain to be settled.

DEFENCE PLANS

4. Canada would take over the defence of the island, but the document indicated there would be no interference with 99-year leases held by the United States on three Newfoundland bases.

5. Canada would take control of the mammoth Gander Airport, on which she spent $30,000,000 during the war.

6. The island's deficit-burdened transportation systems would be made a part of the publicly-owned Canadian National Railways system.

7. The CBC would take over the Broadcasting Corporation of Newfoundland.

8. Federal department services available to existing provinces would be extended to Newfoundland and the Resources Department would quickly undertake topographical, geological, air, geodetic, water resources and mineral surveys.

9. The British North America Act now provides that Newfoundland would be entitled to six seats in the Senate, but the document said this provision was always subject to amendment.

10. On the basis of population, Newfoundland would be entitled to seven seats in the Commons and the document said it was likely Commons representation would be raised to 262 to avoid the necessity of altering the Redistribution Act passed at the last session of Parliament.

PROVISION FOR DIVORCES

11. The island, now without a divorce law, would be in the same position as Quebec, which refers applications for divorce to Parliament.

12. The island's schools would remain under the legislative power and authority of the Newfoundland government.

13. Canada would respect the Privy Council decision fixing the boundaries for Labrador and could make no change in the boundaries without the consent of the Newfoundland government.

14. It might be possible to allow the island to continue the manufacture of oleomargarine, banned in Canada, provided it was not exported from Newfoundland to other provinces.

The document also dealt with such things as personal income, corporation and inheritance taxes, dutiable and non-dutiable imports, unemployment insurance, family allowances, old age pensions, civil service pensions schemes, jurisdiction over fisheries, services of the Trade and Commerce Department, and jurisdiction over Crown lands and harbors.

The matter of defence of the island was raised in one of a series of questions the Newfoundland delegation put to the Canadian representatives.

Newfoundland as a Canadian province, said the document, would come under the terms of a point defence declaration issued last February in Ottawa and Washington. That declaration outlined the decision of the two countries to continue in peacetime the defence co-operation they had practiced in wartime.

While Canada likely would take over the naval base at St. John's and maintain some navy, army and air force personnel on the island, it was not anticipated "that there would be at present any large bases in active operation by Canada alone in addition to those now operated by the United States."

TO VOTE NEXT SPRING

Release of the preliminary document was delayed pending presentation to the Newfoundland National Convention elected last year to recommend further form or forms of government for the now commission-controlled island. On the basis of the document and the financial terms, the convention will decide whether union with Canada should be placed on the ballot paper when the Newfoundland people are asked to choose their future form of government in a referendum, possibly next May.

When other provinces entered Confederation, the Dominion took over their direct debts. As a means of equalizing the relief from debt the Dominion paid what was known as a debt allowance. The highest allowance went to Prince Edward Island, which received a $50 per capita payment.

Newfoundland's per capita debt now amounts to about $212 and reference was made to this in a section of the document outlining how a Dominion-provincial taxation agreement between Canada and the island would work.

The Dominion-provincial taxation agreement with the island would be similar to those now operating with seven of the nine provinces. The island would give the Dominion almost exclusive use of the personal income, corporation and income tax fields in return for certain payments.

$15 PER CAPITA

The most profitable option of three outlined in the supposed agreement was one providing for a $15 per capita payment, plus statutory subsidies.

The per capita payments would provide $4,669,515 in revenue and added to this would be a population grant of $262,241, or 80 cents per capita, and a government and legislation grant of $180,000, making a total of $5,111,756. Added to this, of course, would be any special subsidy. New Brunswick now receives a special annual subsidy of $900,000 and Nova Scotia one of $1,300,000.

The document said the taking over of the island's transportation system by the C.N.R. would mean lower freight, express and passenger rates for Newfoundland because provisions of the Maritime Freight Rates Act would be made applicable.

During the war years the railway operated with a surplus, but in most other years it piled up deficits which were added to the public debt. Steamship services, providing service to various ports around the island, now are operating at a deficit and this probably would increase by $362,000 a year when Canadian seamen's rates were applied.

During the late glacial period, 15,000 to 25,000 years ago, Alaska was without ice, although glaciers covered most of North America.

Hospital Chapel Scene Of Wedding

At a quiet ceremony in the Chapel of St. Joseph's Hospital Wednesday morning, Father Blanchfield joined in marriage Mary Edmee Gagnon, R.N., daughter of Capt. and Mrs. W. T. Gagnon, 2674 Topp Avenue, Oak Bay, and John Kearney, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Kearney, of Belfast, Ireland.

For her wedding, the bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a suit of taupe grey gabardine, and matching accessories, and carried her mother's wedding prayer book topped with mauve orchid, and orange blossoms attached to white streamers.

Miss Winnifred Gagnon attended her sister in a navy blue suit with matching accessories, and a corsage bouquet of gardenias and violets.

The chapel was decorated with chrysanthemums of white, gold and pink. During the ceremony the nurses' choir of St. Joseph's Hospital sang, accompanied by Miss Audrey Keyt at the organ. While the register was being signed Miss Frances Prestley sang Schubert's "Ave Maria."

Mr. James Cairnie was best man.

At a reception held at the home of the bride's parents for intimate friends of the young couple, guests were received by the bride's mother. A table was set with lace cloth, white candles in silver candelabras, and was centred with a two-tiered wedding cake. Father Blanchfield proposed the bride's toast.

For a honeymoon in the States, the bride wore a green gabardine coat over her wedding ensemble.

Mr. and Mrs. Kearney will reside in Victoria.

P.T.A. News

Monterey—The executive of Monterey P.T.A. held a welcome tea in the auditorium on Wednesday for parents of newly enrolled children in the school. Guests were welcomed by Mrs. H. Clark and Mrs. Colin Martin. Mrs. J. J. Carney, president, Cloverdale P.T.A., gave an informal talk on the meaning of parent-teacher work.

Cloverdale—E. J. Diespecker presided at the October meeting of Cloverdale P.T.A., when aims and objects of parent-teacher associations were presented for the benefit of new members. Project for the fall season will be to raise funds to equip the new auditorium stage with curtains, scenery and other properties necessary for concerts put on by the school and P.T. group. Plans were made for a Halloween party in the auditorium on Oct. 31 with costume parade and contest for children and adults and prizes for the most original, best dressed, funniest and clown costumes, and a musical program by the Home Towners of local radio fame. A sewing meeting for the Christmas bazaar on Nov. 14 will be held at the home of Mrs. N. A. Peterson on Tuesday. Miss Mildred Duncan was named to represent the group at a meeting to discuss obtaining library books for children of Saanich schools.

Mrs. "Pat" Sherman, nee Miss E. Venn, was guest of honor Wednesday afternoon at a tea given by friends at the home of Mrs. C. D. Bury, 555 St. Patrick Street. The bride, whose wedding took place in Seattle, was presented with a corsage bouquet and a gift from the 18 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Stone, 1021 McClure Street, have as their guest, Mr. Stone's sister, Mrs. Fred C. Fowler, who recently traveled by plane from London, Eng., to Spokane, where she has been visiting another brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Stone.

Jr. Red Cross Head In City

Visiting Victoria this week-end to confer with the Victoria Branch of the Junior Red Cross are Miss Jean Browne, national director of the organization, and Miss Margaret Palmer, British Columbia's provincial director.

Miss Browne, who has visited Junior Red Cross branches all across Canada, spoke enthusiastically of the increase in membership and work being done in British Columbia.

"There is a tremendous interest," she said, "particularly in the 16 to 18-year age groups. Your Junior Red Cross groups in British Columbia sponsored 125 hospital patients during the last school year and also raised money for many other projects."

Recently returned from Europe, where she was chosen from the 52 nations of the world supporting the Junior Red Cross, to be consultant to the Junior Red Cross Bureau to the Red Cross Society in Geneva, Miss Browne speaks feelingly of the remarkable comeback Junior Red Cross work has made in the occupied countries where activities were suspended during the war, mentioning particularly the handicrafts being revived by children in these countries.

Speaking of the movement which commenced in Canada in 1922, Miss Browne said there are now over 854,000 Junior Red Cross members.

I.O.D.E. Chapter To Hold Bazaar
A Christmas bazaar, sponsored by Florence Nightingale Chapter, I.O.D.E., will be held in the K. of P. Hall, Cormorant Street, on Oct. 18.

Mrs. W. R. Roskelley is general convener and there will be stalls of aprons, superfluties, home-cooking, baby wear, fancy-work, flowers and high-grade hyacinth and daffodil bulbs; a "Witchcraft" fortune-telling booth and special Christmas gift stall. Afternoon tea will be served.

Mrs. T. R. Lumsden presided at a meeting of the chapter, held at headquarters, when it was announced that a sum of $400 realized from a dance at the Bay Street Armory, will be used for the sunroom at the T.B. pavilions, Jubilee Hospital, to re-upholster the furniture in red leather and for new drapes. Mrs. F. Hulin and Mrs. A. G. Moody were named conveners for this work.

Empire study convener, Mrs. G. C. Pinhorn, gave an interesting paper on India; Mrs. T. Brooker, flower convener, announced members had taken flowers to the D.V.A. Hospital during the month; Mrs. M. Kitchen, child and family welfare convener, reported gifts sent to the chapter's adopted children at the Solarium and fresh fruit sent to a patient at Mount St. Mary.

Silver Tea—Royal Bride Chapter of the I.O.D.E. entertained at a silver tea Sunday at the home of Mrs. M. C. Sands, 2460 Quadra Street. Mrs. R. Hadfield was convener, and the net proceeds of $42 will be donated to the various charities which the chapter supports.

Mrs. C. Williams who is leaving for England next week was honored at a tea held by friends in Spencer's dining-room on Thursday. Others present were Mrs. S. Weeks, Mrs. B. Ruddock, Mrs. A. M. Young, Mrs. A. Sartin and Mrs. E. O. Norton.

Mr. H. L. Campbell, assistant Superintendent of Education and chairman, Provincial Junior Red Cross, entertained at luncheon today at the Empress Hotel in honor of Miss Jean Brown, national director, Junior Red Cross, who is visiting in Victoria from the head office of Canadian Red Cross Society in Toronto.

Major H. K. Stevens, Royal Engineers, and Mrs. Stevens, who have been spending the former's leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Stevens, Orchard Avenue, left today en route to England where Major Stevens will take up his duties at the War Office, London.

Miss Gwyn Griffith arrived from Vancouver today to act as bridesmaid at the Murray-Walker wedding at First United Church this evening. Miss Griffith, who is attending the University of British Columbia, will be the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Wynn Griffith, Denison Road.

Honoring Miss Ruby Harvey, whose marriage will take place Oct. 17, her sister-in-law, Mrs. H. C. Harvey entertained at a miscellaneous shower Thursday evening at her home, 1748 Coronation Avenue. A corsage bouquet of gardenias was presented to the bride-elect and one of chrysanthemums to her mother, Mrs. B. Harvey. The guests, whose gifts were presented in a miniature wishing well, included Messdames G. Harvey, D. Hoadley, C. Watson, A. Clatworthy, P. Ellis, C. Gay, H. Thomas J. Dunagan, V. Exton, R. Behnson, and R. Burns and the Misses L. Watson and J. Burns.

Montreal Wedding Of Interest Here

MR. ROBERT JACKSON

MISS DEMARIS OWEN

Of interest in Victoria and Sidney, V.I., is the announcement made in Montreal by Lt. Col. and Mrs. William Hugh Owen of the engagement of their youngest daughter, Demaris Enid Hendrie, to Mr. Robert Patterson Jackson, son of Mr. Jay Jackson of Philadelphia and Mrs. George McMicken, Shoal Harbor, Sidney, V.I. The wedding will take place on Nov. 12 in Montreal. Miss Owen spent the summer with her fiancé and his mother at Sidney, returning to her home in eastern Canada early in September.

Honeymoon Spent In California

A motor trip to California, then back to Victoria, are the plans of Lieut. Allan Bruce McKinnon, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. McKinnon of Victoria, and his bride, the former Joan Elizabeth Menzies, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Menzies of Duncan, who were married on Oct. 2, at West Point Grey United Church in Vancouver.

For the evening service, solemnized by Rev. George Hamilton, the bride wore her mother's pearls with her princess gown of ivory brocade, styled with long pointed sleeves and train. French illusion veiling misted from a mother-of-pearl coronet, and her bridal bouquet was composed of red roses and gladioli.

Her two attendants were her sister-in-law, Mrs. S. Gillans, as matron of honor, and Mrs. W. Sellers. They wore gowns of turquoise and peach moire taffeta respectively and flowers for their bouquets and headdresses were bronze chrysanthemums, peach gladioli and purple asters.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Ross McKinnon stood, as best man for his brother. Ushers were Ross Menzies, brother of the bride and Capt. C. F. Lawrence.

A family friend of the bride, Douglas Jeyes, was soloist, accompanied by Mrs. A. H. Huntley. Following the ceremony a reception was held at "The Gables," where James Clark proposed a toast to the bride.

For the motor trip to California Mrs. McKinnon wore a dress of dusty blue with gold belt and matching hat, and a Persian coat, the gift of the groom.

Y.P. Societies

St. Mary's—The regular meeting of St. Mary's Juniors was held in the parish hall, Oak Bay. Following business an informal birthday party was held for Mari-ane Brown, with dancing and refreshments. Next meeting will be held on Tuesday at 7.30.

Matching Babies, Parents, Good Work

WINNIPEG (CP) — If you want to adopt a baby in Manitoba your chances of getting the traditional blue-eyed girl or brown-haired boy are slim, says Sidney McArthur, assistant director of the welfare branch of the province's health department. There are 250 applications on file and only about 200 babies are adopted each year, half of them in the Greater Winnipeg area.

It's a happy job, matching homeless babies with babyless homes, says McArthur. Girls are in greatest demand because "the wife thinks it would be easier to bring up a girl" and because she usually wants a little girl as a companion for herself. Parents want quite young babies to bring up as their own from the beginning. Doctors, psychiatrists and social workers "match" the baby to the new parents. Appearance, color of eyes and hair, physique, religion and other matters are considered.

"If the baby comes from a father and mother with musical ability we try to find a home where music is appreciated. Background may be a questionable factor in the ability a child develops but at least we give it every chance," says Miriam Ferns, one of the three adoption workers.

"As for there being a black market in babies—where there is trafficking in babies for money—I'd say it just doesn't exist in Manitoba."

Clubwomen's News

Quota Club — At the regular meeting of Victoria Quota Club, with Mrs. Winifred Rayfuse in the chair, it was announced that the fashion show had netted a sum of $200, which will be given to the fund being raised for the home project for aged citizens.

Since the Quota International scheme for the year is to be better service in the field of hearing, contact has been made with the local club for the hard of hearing and efforts will be made to assist them in their projects along this line both for children and adults.

Members will bring donations of clothing to the next business meeting so that the club may join with the International Christmas plan to send clothing to Britain.

Mrs. Elizabeth Brown's resignation as treasurer was accepted and Mrs. Betty Trimmer elected to that post.

Committee heads were named as follows: Mrs. Winifred Pierce, budget; Mrs. Edith Wilkes, hospitality; Mrs. Viola McPhee, ways and means; Miss Gypsy McHaffie, historian.

The international president, Mrs. Marie Higgins, is leaving for Australia on Oct. 19 to charter six new clubs there, and at the next meeting, which will be a dinner meeting at the Empress Hotel on Oct. 22, "Our Sister Dominion" will be the topic.

Symphony Orchestra Patronesses

MRS. CHARLES A. BANKS

MRS. JOHN HART

MRS. R. W. MAYHEW

MRS. P. E. GEORGE

Victoria's 1947-48 orchestral season will open on Nov. 4 in the Royal Theatre under the distinguished patronage of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Charles A. Banks, Hon. John Hart and Mrs. Hart, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Mayhew, and Mayor and Mrs. Percy E. George. An enlarged orchestra and an extended program of concerts promises Victoria a real musical treat.

It is interesting to note that the season opens and closes with two outstanding Victoria pianists as guest artists with the orchestra, Gertrude Huntley Green and Denise Mara. Two visits from the Vancouver Symphony Orchestra and one from Nicholas Fiore, the famous flautist, who will play with the Victoria orchestra under Melvin Knudson, complete a splendid season.

Objective Reached By Salvation Army

C. S. Henley, campaign chairman, reports that the Salvation Army campaign for $30,000 has received splendid support from the public and the total to date exceeds $32,500 with a number of subscribers yet to hear from.

It is hoped that before the campaign actually closes the total will reach $35,000. Any excess of subscriptions over and above the minimum of $30,000 will be used for further Salvation Army social services in this community.

Those who have made promises or who have not been contacted are asked to send donations to The Salvation Army Red Shield Campaign at Prince Robert House, 912 Douglas Street.

Family Returns From B.C. To Russia

VANCOUVER (CP) — George Maksimuk of New Westminster, and his wife and two children today were en route from Canada to Russia aboard the Polish ship Kilinsky.

The centre of a minor international incident, the Maksimuks first applied for a transit visa through the United States so they could sail from New York. This was refused, so they obtained Russian passports from Ottawa in order to sail from here.

"We are the first of the Russians, Ukrainians and Poles here to embark for the homeland," said Maksimuk, stating their eventual destination was Kobryn, where he and his wife lived before emigrating to Canada in 1939.

Their children, Vera, 15, and Eugene, six, both speak English and Polish, and will have to learn Russian when they return.

"I really am thankful for Canada's hospitality," he said, "but I feel it is my duty to go to the place where I was born."

In his lapel, Maksimuk wore an International Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.) button, plus a shop steward's badge and a small gold-colored hammer and sickle.

Canada's Gift To Princess Antique Silver, Fur Coat

OTTAWA (CP) Canada's gift to Princess Elizabeth on the occasion of her marriage to Lieut. Philip Mountbatten next month will be a selection of inscribed antique silver and a mink coat made of Canadian wild mink skins.

Prime Minister King in a statement Thursday night said that through Princess Alice, Countess of Athlone, it had been learned Princess Elizabeth "was in need of silver for setting up house and would particularly welcome silver for her table."

"The cabinet has accordingly authorized Princess Alice, on behalf of the Canadian government, to make a selection of antique silver which will accord with the personal wishes of the Princess.

"The gift will be suitably inscribed to indicate that it has been presented by and carries with it the best wishes of the government and people of Canada."

Mr. King said the government also had decided to present Princess Elizabeth with a mink coat of Canadian wild mink skins which will be of Canadian workmanship.

KEEPING HUBBY PLEASED

A woman asks: "What do you think is the greatest mistake that wives make in dealing with their husbands?" Oh, wives' colossal matrimonial blunder consists in throwing away the bait with which they caught their poor fish, and that error is the more inexplicable because every woman knows how she got her man, and why she hasn't gump-ton enough to realize that she will have to use the same tactics to hold him, passes comprehension.

Even the dullest girl knows that husbands don't drop like manna from Heaven, and that if she gets one she has to be up and doing and present a line of charms that will make him think that she will make a companion of whom he will never tire. So she puts her best foot foremost.

He never sees her except when she is all dolled up. She yes-sesses everything he says. She laughs at his jokes and makes him think that in her eyes he is a world's wonder.

And so they are married. And as long as the wife continues giving her husband the glad hand, all is well. It is only after the wife decides that a mere husband isn't worth dressing up for and that marriage gives a woman a right to slack on her job and eat onions and tell her husband home truths that Old Man Trouble stalks in at the door.

TOO POSSESSIVE

The next mistake that wives make in marriage is in being too possessive. Every bride is sold to the belief that she owns her husband, body and soul, and that he hasn't a right to have an affection, or a thought, or an idea, or an interest of his own. She can be just as jealous of his mother or his business as she can be of a siren, and it is when her husband finds out that he has no more freedom than a mouse in a trap that he begins to gnaw his way out.

Another mistake—and a fatal one—that women make in marriage is in being ALL mother and NO wife. After the birth of the first baby the average woman never sees her husband as a man again. He is just a slave, provided by Providence, to supply the children with comforts and luxuries. She lavishes all of her affection and caresses on them, and she can't understand why, while she was talking baby-talk to Junior and telling him how "Booful" he was, that Papa had drifted off to some woman who was telling him how big and handsome and wonderful HE was.

SENSE OF TIMING

And back of nine-tenths of the domestic rows that finally end in the divorce court is women's lack of a sense of timing. They have never found out, as the Good Book says, that there is a time and a season for all things, and that a husband's mood determines how he meets any domestic situation. Yet there are wives who greet their tired, hungry, nerve-racked husbands at the door when they come home with all the bad news they can scrape up, and get things said to them that hurt their feelings when, if they had waited until after dinner, they could safely have presented the bills for their new hats and gowns.

These are some of the mistakes that wives make in dealing with their husbands, but it all sums up into saying that as long as a wife continues to cut bait she will always keep her husband on the line.

Bowls of bean soup, minced ham-pickle sandwiches and grapefruit salad make a lunch.

Girl Driver Is Remanded In Court

June Robinson, 18-year-old Saanich girl, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Luther Holling, 77, 1569 Cedar Hill Crossroad, in an accident on Oct. 4, appeared in Saanich police court yesterday afternoon and was remanded to next Thursday, when a further remand for another week will be ordered.

George Gregory appeared for accused and asked for the remand.

The charge against the Saanich girl arose from the accident last Saturday afternoon when, police reported, a car being driven by her failed to complete a right hand turn from Shelbourne Street onto Cedar Hill Crossroad and crashed into the side of the house where Mr. Holling was sleeping. The car penetrated partly through the wall, crushing the bed, in which Mr. Holling was sleeping and killing him instantly.

Miss Robinson appeared in Saanich police court Monday morning and was charged with manslaughter.

A coroner's jury this week, investigating the circumstances of Mr. Holling's death, returned a verdict of "culpable negligence" on the part of Miss Robinson.

High School Notes

At the first meeting of the Student's Council, Bhagat Singh in the chair, the new athletic point system was adopted with one slight amendment. Application for a grant for the Camosunet was referred to the final committee for investigation. The prefect system has been running smoothly for some time now. There are 30 prefects this year.

Mickey Ciceri is president of the Junior Red Cross. She started the year off with a drive for shoes for the children in England.

House captains this year are Peggy Blake and Buddy Bendall. House I: Gail Keyworth and Roy Erickson, House II: Helen Pettigrew and Elmer Matthews, House III: Jean Sufferin and Robert Sam, House IV.

The first issue of the Camosunet of which Burl Hanneson and Margaret Fitzgerald are editors, gave a record number on the staff this year.

The senior mixed choir appeared in assembly to sing "The Open Road."

The Hi-Y groups have been organized. In the boys' Hi-Y, Dick Smith is president of the Alpha Chapter and John Gault, president of the Beta Chapter. Donna Munroe is president of the senior girls' Hi-Y. The junior group is headed by Vera Stanley.

Mr. Parnell and Mr. McLagan are this year's additions to the staff. Mr. McLagan taught at Victoria High two years ago.

6-Month Log Scale 1,835,782,668 Feet

British Columbia's log scale, unhampered by strikes or major fire closures, rose to 1,835,782,668 feet board measure during the first six months of this year, a report issued by C. D. Orchard, deputy forests minister, showed today.

The six-month total is more than 500,000,000 f.b.m. above the 1946 six-month total. The month-long strike of 35,000 woodworkers in May and June was responsible for the 1946 loss.

The report showed the June cut at 360,702,873 f.b.m. for 1947, compared with 104,438,275 f.b.m. cut during June, 1946.

In the Vancouver forest district, which includes all Vancouver Island and which is the largest lumber producing area of the province, 292,198,243 f.b.m. were cut last June, compared with 70,360,428 f.b.m. cut during June, 1946.

The Vancouver forest district June output was made up as follows: Fir, 126,183,689 f.b.m.; 832,449 lineal feet of poles, 185 cords of fuel wood and 653 hevn ties; cedar, 62,534,614 f.b.m.; 388,486 lineal feet of poles and 2,461 cords of wood; spruce, 3,380,677 f.b.m.; hemlock, 73,984,466 f.b.m.; 26,555 lineal feet of poles and 150 cords of wood; balsam, 21,450,322 f.b.m.; white pine, 2,617,106 f.b.m. and 6,925 lineal feet of poles; cypress, 560,009 f.b.m.; hardwoods, 883,803 f.b.m., and cotton woods, 602,907 f.b.m.

Plan Keep Fit Classes

PORT ALBERNI — Operation of the ladies' keep-fit classes on similar lines as last year is likely within about two weeks, reports T. Foreman, recreation director.

Mrs. B. McDonough, last year's organizer, has left the district, but Miss Ellen Silver, a leading pupil last year, has offered to give assistance and instruction. Arrangements are now proceeding with the provincial pro-rec director at Vancouver.

Wind sails were tried for propulsion of railway cars during the 19th century.

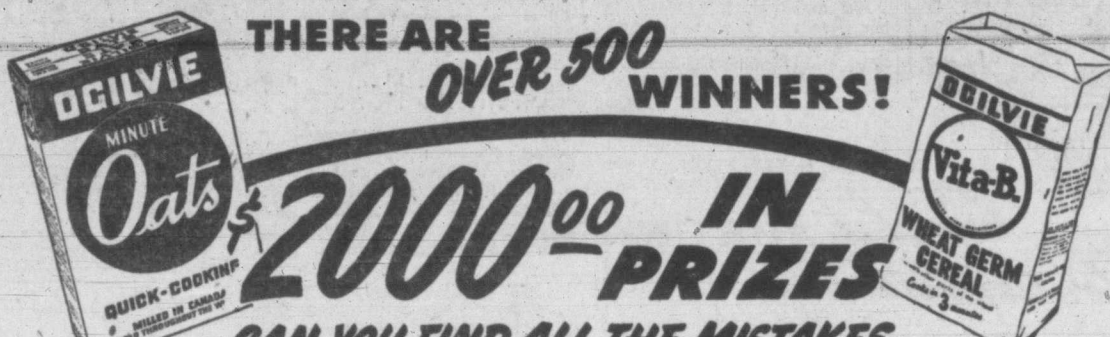

Find Body Of Missing Youth Near Estevan

PORT ALBERNI—The body of Lawrence Rae-Arthur, 19, missing since his trolley was found sunk Sept. 10 near Estevan Point on the west coast of Vancouver Island, was found this week on a beach about a mile from the scene of the sinking.

The remains were taken by the P.M.L. 16 to Boat Basin, where Rae-Arthur's mother resides. The trolley was sunk during a storm which swept the west coast of the island, and was found badly battered in 24 feet of water.

HARVESTING THE SEA

SINCE THE DAYS OF SIR JOHN A. MacDONALD

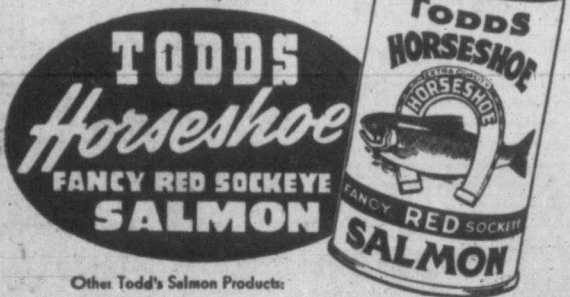

In 1881, five years before the last spike in the transcontinental line of the C.P.R. was driven, the House of Todd commenced fishing operations in Victoria which have continued unbroken to the present day.

For 60 years, Todd's brought to Canada the pick of Pacific coast seafoods... then, in 1941, the entire pack was diverted to overseas theatres of war, breaking a link with Canadian consumers reaching back to Sir John A. MacDonald.

We are pleased to announce that Todd's salmon is again available in Canada. This heralds the return of "Horseshoe" Sockeye Salmon... packed to the same pre-war standards which made it the very symbol of salmon perfection in Canada. When you buy seafoods, look for the Todd label... none but the choicest bear it.

VEL* works magic!

CUTS DISHWASHING TIME
3 WAYS

VEL penetrates, cuts grease, loosens dirt faster.

VEL eliminates wiping... dishes, glasses gleam... no streaky film to wipe away.

No dishpan ring with VEL... no soap scum to scour away.

VEL washes my woollens,
so-o-o soft and fleecy!

Says Jean Small of Etobicoke, Ont.
"My woolen sweater still fits like a dream, after five washings with VEL... it feels soft as velvet, too. VEL is marvelous for woollens. No soap scum, so colours stay bright. No shrinkage because VEL washes perfectly in lukewarm water."

JUST put a few teaspoonfuls of VEL in your dishpan (about half as much as soap). Add water. VEL gives the water amazing new cleaning power that lasts long after suds dissolve. VEL removes grease faster, more completely than soap—in hardest water. Your dishes, glasses sparkle like jewels, without the touch of a towel. And VEL is milder to hands, free from soapy alkalis!

VEL keeps stockings
sheerer, lovelier!

Says Claire Honeyford,
Toronto

"My nylons stay lovelier longer now I wash them with gentle VEL. I put just a teaspoonful of VEL in the basin, add lukewarm water... dip and squeeze a few times, and VEL washes nylons and undies fresh and sheer as new. Colours stay bright, too... no dulling soap film."

Music Teachers To Sponsor Concert By Young Artists

JEAN RAMSAY

Jean Ramsay, 19-year-old soprano from Winnipeg, who will appear here next Tuesday at a concert recital being held under the auspices of the Victoria Branch of the B.C. Registered Music Teachers' Association. Miss Ramsay began her singing career in high school where she took leading roles in a number of light opera productions. She continued her training in this phase of the art while attending university and was awarded the National Jewish Women's Scholarship and later the United Scottish Scholarship. Later, she was awarded her A.M.M. diploma and was chosen to represent Manitoba in the current Young Artists Series being sponsored throughout the Dominion by registered music teachers.

To be featured with Miss Ramsay is Joan Gabriel, 17-year-old pianist from Regina, who, despite her youth, has many notable achievements to her credit. She has appeared on several occasions with the Regina Symphony Orchestra, both in solo and concert works, and has been a featured artist for three consecutive years at the Banff School of Fine Arts. A repeated winner of festival honors, Miss Gabriel has won the Orpheus Scholarship, the CKCK Scholarship Auditions Award and the Banff School of Fine Arts Scholarship.

The current tour of these young artists is being sponsored by the Registered Music Teachers' Association with the idea of given greater opportunities to music students and to promote greater public interest in their ability. Tuesday's concert here is to be held in a private home. Interested persons are asked to contact Miss Una Calvert at G 6624 for information.

Student elections at Victoria College Thursday filled all vacancies on the student council. Aileen Smyth was elected women's junior member, and Donald Elliot was named men's junior member by acclamation.

Others elected by acclamation were Mary Richardson, women's athletic representative; Donald Henderson, men's athletic representative; and Rodney Nixon, director of publicity and publications.

Other members of the student council, who were elected last year before the college term closed were Jim Patterson, president; Sheila Whittemore, secretary; Lorne Henry, treasurer; Dorothy Willis, president of literary and scientific department, and Joan Gonnason, president of the women's undergraduate society.

Executives of college clubs were also elected as follows: Players' Club—Ron Wilson, president; Victor Mitchell, vice-president; Marilyn Berry, secretary, and Anna Wootton, business manager.

Varsity Christian Fellowship—Nora McDonald, president; Ian Munday, vice-president; Mary Dickenson, secretary-treasurer, and Harold Harris, publicity.

Music Appreciation—John Boshier, president; Rodney Nixon, vice-president; Elizabeth Vey, secretary, and Marie Jorje de St. Jorre, music librarian.

Literary Arts—Tom Wylie, president; Betty Blowey, vice-president; Dave Sparks, secretary; Don Elliot, publicity, and Godfrey Hearn, program chairman.

Camera Club—Ken Smith, president; Dorothy Bain, secretary-treasurer.

Hot Records Society—Jim Millar, president, and Elizabeth Foote, secretary.

Student Christian Movement—Dick Davenport, president; Aubrey Bell, vice-president, and Kay Greer, secretary.

Science Club—Bernard Ciceri, president; Allan Patterson, vice-president, and Connie Armstrong, secretary-treasurer.

The psychology club, the forum, and international relations club will hold their elections next week.

Woman Sues For Her 15th Divorce

BROOKS, Ore. (AP) — Mrs. Betty M. Dunlavy, 40, who is now suing for her 15th divorce, expressed hope today that the "right man" might still come along.

Flipping pancakes in the restaurant she owns here, the attractive brunette said 15 unlucky trials have not turned her against marriage.

"I have no prospects for No. 16 and I'm not looking," she told reporters. "But," she added cheerfully, "they do say life begins at 40."

Mrs. Dunlavy, whose divorce suit against 32-year-old John S. Dunlavy on a charge of cruel and inhuman treatment is now pending in circuit court, also professed these convictions:

"Variety is not the spice of life. One husband—if a girl could just find the right one—might be better.

"Men are not alike. They're all different," said Mrs. Dunlavy emphatically.

She has not had quite as many men in her life as the court record of 15 marriages in 22 years would indicate. She wed one of her husbands twice, and another husband three times.

ATLAS THEATRE

"The Two Mrs. Carrolls," a Warner Bros. melodrama based on the Martin Vale stage hit, is the new film now at the Atlas Theatre. Starring Humphrey Bogart, Barbara Stanwyck and Alexis Smith, the featured players include Nigel Bruce, Isobel Elsom, Pat O'Moore and Ann Carter in important roles.

'Wyoming' Rugged Outdoor Picture

"Wyoming," Republic picture which opened today at the Dominion Theatre, is a fine example of the type of rugged outdoor film that has tremendous appeal and wide audience interest.

Starring William Elliott, Vera Ralston and John Carroll, the picture tells the story of the early settling of Wyoming when cattlemen were the kings of the range.

What happened when homesteaders started to stream into the territory, intent on taking the little plots of land the government offered them, makes for an exciting yarn.

ROYAL THEATRE

Joan Crawford plays her most dramatic role to date in Warner Bros. "Possessed," now at the Royal Theatre. Co-starring with Miss Crawford is Van Heflin. Raymond Massey and Geraldine Brooks head the supporting cast. "Possessed" is the story of unrequited love, with a dramatic ending.

YORK THEATRE

Putting on film the real and imaginary sights, sounds and impressions of a man going under an anesthetic posed a challenging problem to Michael Powell and Emeric Pressburger, producers of the romantic fantasy, "Stairway to Heaven," a Universal-International release now at the York Theatre. They had to consider audiences composed of millions of different people, each with their own personal reactions, beliefs and experiences. And it was to be done in technicolor.

sonal reactions, beliefs and experiences. And it was to be done in technicolor.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Myrna was exhausted, but still grinning. "The things I do for Nora," she said.

She had just finished ducking a bullet fired by a would-be-killer, and getting knocked to the floor. On the previous day she had spent hours before the cameras, "jivin' an' livin'" like the most swing-happy teen-ager, while taking part in a wild jam session.

All of which activity was part of the fast action in M.G.M.'s newest "Thin Man" picture, "Song of the Thin Man," which is the current attraction at the Capitol Theatre.

Smythe Predicts Third-Place Finish For N.H.L. Champions

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP)—Chances of Toronto Maple Leafs in the coming National Hockey League campaign depend mainly on whether they can recapture the dynamic will to win which sparked them to their surprise Stanley Cup championship last season.

Managing director Conny Smythe admits that so far his team as a whole hasn't shown the fire of last season, but he is optimistic enough to predict that the Leafs, with youth on their side, will hit their stride soon enough to wind up no worse than third in the league race.

Make-up of the club isn't definitely settled but there are at least seven sure-fire starters.

Walter (Turk) Broda, the fabulous fat man from Brandon, Man., is a cinch to start his 10th season in the Leaf nets. Captain Syl Apps, a veteran of Broda's vintage, will centre Harry Watson and Wild Bill Ezinicki on one line, with Ted Kennedy, Vic Lynn and Calder Trophy winner Howie Meeker making up a second trio.

Smythe says the rest of the line-up is wide-open. He'll carry six more forwards, picked from utility men Nick Metz and Bud Poile; leftwingers Gaye Stewart and Joe Klukay; rightwingers Fleming Mackell and Don Metz, and centreman Bob Dawes, plus any likely candidates from Leafs' Pittsburgh farm club who may present themselves.

The six defencemen to be carried currently look like Bill Thomson, Gus Mortson, Wally Stanowski, Bob Goldham, Garth Boesch and Bill Barliko, all with last year's club. However, Ernie Dickens and Elwin Morris, both former Leafs with the Pittsburgh Club, are still in the running.

But if the make-up of the 19-man squad is in doubt, one thing isn't. The fellows who don't show fight will play for Pittsburgh. "We may have to draft the fighters from there," says Smythe.

Football Funnies

There is only one ball in a game but demonstrating fumble recovery tactics, these Northwestern players make believe there are four. They are, left to right, Frank Aschenbrenner, Art Murakowski, Jim Farrar and Ralph Everist.

3 Major League Clubs Minus 1948 Managers

NEW YORK (AP)—With the exception of Brooklyn, Cleveland and St. Louis Browns, the managerial picture in baseball's major leagues is set for the 1948 season.

Washington Senators became the third club to appoint a new manager for 1948 when they signed Joe Kuhel, former star first baseman, to a one-year contract yesterday. Kuhel replaces Ossie Bluege who moved into the front office.

Changes which took place during the World Series saw Joe McCarthy, former leader of New York Yankees, signing a two-year document to lead Boston Red Sox, and Billy Meyer to pilot Pittsburgh Pirates for a similar stretch. McCarthy succeeded Joe Cronin, who also moved upstairs while Meyer replaced Billy Herman, whose contract was bought up by the Pirates.

Almost overshadowing the changes in managers by the Pirates and Red Sox was the revelation by Boston Braves and Chicago Cubs that they had retained Billy Southworth and Charley Grimm respectively for five-year periods. Southworth's salary was announced as "in excess of $250,000" for the span, while Grimm's was not announced.

DYER REHIRED

Eddie Dyer was rehired for a year by St. Louis Cardinals, while Ben Chapman of Philadelphia Phillies, Mel Ott of New York Giants and Johnny Neun of Cincinnati Reds are working on holdover contracts, with Ott's tenure not over until 1950. Neun's and Chapman's terminate at the end of the 1948 season.

Bucky Harris of the world champion Yankees also is working on a holdover contract, as are Ted Lyons of Chicago White Sox and Muddy Ruel of the Browns.

BOUDREAU OUT?

It was believed that player-manager Lou Boudreau of Cleveland would come to the Browns in a player-deal and take over the club leadership. However, this was dispelled when Brown officials, attempting to sound out Boudreau if he would come to them as a player only, were refused permission by Cleveland to consult with Boudreau.

At the moment, it seems that Boudreau will not manage the Indians next season. The star shortstop wants a long-term pact while Veeck is offering a one-year contract.

Steve O'Neill of Detroit Tigers hasn't been signed yet, but indications are that the popular Irishman will be in the next few weeks.

Barring unforeseen events, Connie Mack will be at his old post with Philadelphia Athletics next year, leaving Brooklyn with the only other unbroken managerial puzzle. Brooklyn must choose between Burt Shotton, who led the team during the 1947 season, and Leo Durocher, whose one-year suspension by Commissioner A. B. Chandler ended with the final payout of the World Series.

MONTREAL (CP)—Johnny Greco, Canadian welterweight champion, and Harry Hurst, listed by the Canadian Boxing Federation as the logical contender for the title, will clash in a title bout here Nov. 3, it was announced Thursday by Frank Hogan, chairman of the federation. The fighters, both Montrealers, signed the contract Thursday.

Victoria and District Cricket Association will hold its annual meeting at the Y.W.C.A., Oct. 25, at 7.30, officials announced. This cancels previous notice.

Pro Hockey Clubs Played For Influence On Amateurs

TORONTO (CP)—That old question of whether amateurs or professionals run the Ontario Amateur Hockey Association has bobbed up again.

This time the trouble started when Detroit Red Wings moved their junior A franchise from Galt to Windsor. The Wings sent four players on their list to the border city but Galt, feeling the loss, maintained that they would not release them. Finally after Windsor appealed to the O.H.A. for permission to use them, two were given transfers.

Harry Psutka, rugged defence star with St. Michael's Memorial Cup team last season, finds himself in a similar predicament. Harry, property of the Toronto Maple Leafs, has signed a contract with Stratford but the Leafs now want him to play with Toronto Marlboros.

Two sportswriters have put in a good word for the cause of the amateurs. Dan (Kitchener Record) Odette said that "after battling for many years, the O.H.A. has obtained an agreement with the pro clubs. It is not all the Ontario body wants but it is a sure thing they won't do anything to offend a pro club and which might bring a showdown and end the agreement."

Chick (Stratford Beacon-Herald) Appel says that "pro clubs have taken a hand in affairs and are ordering their chateaux to report to their own junior farm clubs, whether they want to or not. That in the opinion of

Unknown Defeats Babe Didrickson

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Betty White of Dallas, Tex., exploded one of the year's biggest links upsets in the face of Mrs. Babe Zaharias here Thursday, eliminating the world's top feminine player in the Texas Women's Open quarterfinals, 1 up.

The 106-pound Dallas amateur climaxed her triumph on the 18th green by calmly stroking in a six-foot birdie putt.

The Babe was suffering from a heavy cold and a temperature of 101.

Mrs. White qualified for a semifinals match today with Carol Dinger, Tiffin, O.

this observer, is carrying matters too far."

His summing up: "When pro clubs step into the 'amateur' picture with tactics of that kind then this observer does object and suggests that the O.H.A. and C.A.H.A. take a hand in affairs and put pro clubs in their place. The slave market in pro hockey is rampant enough now without allowing it to get completely out of hand and unless something is done, and done very quickly, it will develop a very unhealthy condition."

Legion Meets Bays In Senior Soccer Opener Tomorrow

Victoria and District Football loop will open play tomorrow at Athletic Park when Canadian Legion will hook up with the Oak Bay entry starting at 2.30.

Bays line-up lists Dave Peterson in goal with Ken Wright, Neil Swainson and Ernie Costain working on the back line. On the half line, Dick Watson will open at right side with Allan Walker working on the left. Either Rookie Wright or Norm Baker will play centre half. Forward line is incomplete as yet, with Jack Thompson at right inside, Stan Wiseman at centre, and Don Wakeland and Allan Thompson on the left side. No right winger has been announced.

For the Legion eleven, Holt will guard the uprisings with Burt and Connor listed as full-backs. Smith, S. Robbins and Bill Andrejkew form the half-back trio while Brown, Duncan, Popkin, Oliver and Pickup will see action on the attacking line. Spares include Dobbie, MacKay and Alex McCormick.

Favorites Gain Final

Defending champion Mrs. J. H. Todd and co-medalist Mrs. A. Dowell advanced into the finals of the women's city golf championship at Colwood Golf Club yesterday.

Mrs. Todd defeated Mrs. M. Todd Finney, 5 and 4, and Mrs. Dowell took the measure of Gorge Vale champion, Miss Isabel Jarvis, one up, in a match that was decided on the 18th.

The pair meet today over the 18-hole distance in the final. First flight competition saw Mary-Young qualify for the final with a 2 and 1 victory over Mrs. H. Husband, and Mrs. S. Weston turn the trick on Mrs. C. Denham by the same score.

Mrs. J. C. I. Edwards captured a 5 and 4 decision over Mrs. H. A. Tomalin to enter the second flight final and was opposed by Miss M. Prior, who was taken to the 20th hole before defeating Mrs. V. Painter.

WILLIAMS UNSIGNED

BOSTON (AP)—Boston Red Sox said Thursday the club has not yet discussed a 1948 contract with the American League batting champion, Ted Williams, and did not expect to do so until after club meetings in December. Referring to a published report that Williams had been signed and probably would be the highest-paid baseball player next season, a club spokesman said: "We never reveal salaries."

Olympic Swimming Official Criticized By Russian Press

MOSCOW (AP)—No decision has been reached here as to whether Russia will participate in the 1948 Olympics.

This was revealed Thursday by sports writer M. Zaslavsky in the newspaper Soviet Sport. At the same time, he criticized Harold Fern of Britain, president of the International Amateur Swimming Federation, for alleged discrimination against Russia.

"Fern does not halt with the distortion of facts," wrote the Russian, "but taking the bit in his mouth he gallops even further."

"Because Russia became a member of the International Swimming Federation," the writer quoted Fern, "does not mean she will take part in the Olympic Games."

Then the Russian commentator wrote:

"As is known, Soviet athletes have not yet stated their intentions regarding the Olympics but Fern tries ahead of time to put in doubt the right of Soviet swimmers to participate."

High School Rugby Loop To Start Soon

Interhigh school senior B rugby loop will open play Wednesday, officials announced yesterday. Five teams are entered in the league, Victoria High Blacks, Victoria High Golds, Oak Bay, Mount View, and Mount Douglas. A sixth squad, Esquimalt, had to drop from the loop this year, as they have no field for practices or home games.

Publicity director Ernie Costain announced that the complete schedule would be released Monday.

Announce Sale Of Tanforan Race Track

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sale of Tanforan Race Track, California's oldest, to William G. Hells, New Orleans, and Eugene Mori, president of Garden State Track at Camden, N.J., was announced Thursday.

The transaction was reported to involve transfer of stock valued at $2,187,500.

Tanforan, which had its first season Nov. 4, 1899, will be operated by the management of Garden State with Walter Donovan, executive vice-president of that track, becoming Tanforan's managing director.

KIWANIS GOLF

Golf teams of the Victoria and Oak Bay Kiwanis clubs will again compete for the Hayward Cup when they oppose one another at a match at the Uplands Golf Club, Oct. 22, it was announced last night by Tom McMartin at a meeting of the Oak Bay club. At present the cup is held by city Kiwanians.

Can't Make First Team But Is Awarded International Cup

LONDON (CP)—Bryn Jones, Arsenal soccer club's prewar glamor boy with the most expensive feet in the game—£14,000 ($56,000)—and who now can't get into the Gunners first team, has been awarded his 16th "cap."

He was chosen at the age of 35 to play for Wales against England at Cardiff Oct. 18.

A decade ago, when Arsenal rode the crest of national and international popularity, Jones of the Wolverhampton Wanderers was known only by a few derers was known only by a few football connoisseurs as a good little player. He bounded into prominence overnight when the Gunners parted with £14,000 for him—a record until this summer when Derby County paid £15,500 to Greenock Morton for Billy Steel.

Jones shared the pre-hostilities spotlight with such Arsenal stars as Eddie Hapgood, Cliff Bastin, Eddie Drake and Alex James, but his glamor perished with six years of war. This season he is not up to first-team standard and is too good for the reserves, which places him and manager Tom Whittaker in awkward positions.

The Arsenal chief says that Bryn is good enough for any other team in the country but Highbury's forgotten man doesn't want to leave the Gunners. He is content to stick around and see what turns up. He has played two games this season, one with the first team and one with the reserves, and both clubs still are undefeated.

The little Welsh ball-juggler hasn't changed much in 10 years. He takes size 5½ football boots and his weight is up only six pounds—from 138 to 144.

But the big question the Reeses, Joneses and Evanses in the Welsh valleys are asking is how will be stack up in international play.

Los Angeles Close To Pacific Coast League Championship

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Angels, after seven futile stabs, were on the verge today of hitting the winner's circle in the annual Pacific Coast League post-mortem known as the Governor's Cup playoffs.

Edging Oakland 5 to 7 in a wooly 12-inning fracas last night, the Angels assumed a three-games-to-nothing lead over the Oaks in the final series of the 1947 playoffs.

This is the eighth season the Angels have been in the playoffs. Heretofore they've never won. Victory this year would be particularly sweet inasmuch as Bill Kelly's boys also won the pennant.

A.F.L. Chiefs Slap Down Lewis By Abolishing Vice-Presidency

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Top A.F.L. leaders slapped down a defiant John L. Lewis today by voting to strip him—and 12 other vice-presidents—of the "office" in the federation by which he was able to bar the door of the National Labor Relations Board to 1,500 tiny local unions.

Though not a "Red" sympathizer himself, Lewis refused to sign the affidavit required by the Taft-Hartley Act disavowing Communism. Unions whose officers don't sign cannot use the National Labor Relations Board.

The little federal locals, with 300,000 members, need the board's protective facilities most among the A.F.L.'s big family of unions. Their national "officers" are the council members.

The 15-man council, over the opposition of Lewis, voted to do away with the offices of vice-president, leaving only President William Green and Secretary-Treasurer George Meany as "officers" of the federation.

Lewis and his 12 vice-presidential colleagues would become mere council members, retaining their numerical order of seniority on the policy-making body.

One council member predicted the convention would adopt the proposal by a seven-eighths majority, but delegates whispered they expected the militant Lewis to put up at least a token fight on the convention floor. A constitutional amendment, requiring a two-thirds vote, is necessary to put the change in effect.

Few now believe that Lewis would go so far as to "take a walk" from the A.F.L. over it. He brought his 600,000 miners back to the federation in January, 1946, a decade after he had led them out to help form the C.I.O. Later he split with the C.I.O. too.

North Vancouver Supports Victoria On Business Tax

Support for Mayor Percy George's contention that it isn't the city's own business whether or not it imposes a business tax, regardless of any resolutions passed by the Union of B.C. Municipalities supporting sales tax, has come from Mayor Jack Loutet of North Vancouver.

Mayor Loutet, at the convention of the U.B.C.M. at Harrison Hot Springs, was one of the strongest opponents against business tax mandatory and supporting sales tax as an alternative. He said, in a letter to Mayor George, after reading of Mayor W. C. Hamilton, Port Alberni, objecting to Victoria's consideration of business tax, that "the power to impose the tax being in the act, any municipality that saw fit could impose the tax and could not be held to be opposing the union in doing so."

Mayor Hamilton has sent a second wire to Mayor George, stating "All methods of extra taxation are objectionable to me. I am merely reminding you of the decision of union in convention. Situation can easily develop into small cities' interests versus large cities."

Solarium Appoints Parsons Administrator

Commissioner T. W. S. Parsons, who retires today from the B.C. Police, Nov. 1 will take over from C. W. Leubach the duties as administrator of the Queen Alexandra Solarium, it was learned today.

Mr. Parsons will spend most of his time at the Solarium, famed hospital for crippled children at Mill Bay. Mr. Leubach, who has held the position since February, 1942, will retire in Victoria.

Mr. Parsons will take over the post at a time when the Solarium is undertaking an extensive building program.

Need Greater Understanding For Unity, Says Publisher

A greater effort on the part of English-speaking Canadians to understand the viewpoint of French-Canadian citizens and their religion, language, autonomy and race would bring about realization of the dream of unity in this country, according to John Bassett, publisher of the 170-year-old Montreal Gazette and an Irish-born Presbyterian who has lived in harmony with French-Canadians for many years past.

One of the main ingredients in Mr. Bassett's recipe for unity is bilingualism. "It is an unfortunate thing that while in Europe a knowledge of the French language is a symbol of culture and education, in this country speaking French is supposed to be mixed up with politics, religion and race," he said in an interview at the Empress Hotel today.

"To show my sincerity in this expression, I sent my only two children, a daughter and a son, to Europe to study French."

"I was indeed proud in the last general election when my son ran as Progressive Conservative candidate in Sherbrooke County and was able to speak to the French-Canadian electors in their own language over the radio and on the platform."

It would be of interest for English-speaking Canadians to know, he said, that in the city of Sherbrooke, second largest Quebec industrial centre, apart from Montreal, and where the community is made up of a population 80 per cent French-Canadian and 20 per cent English-Canadian, there is a mutual understanding that there should be an English-speaking mayor every two years.

So strong is this understanding that when on two occasions in the past 20 years a French-speaking citizen attempted to break the rule and run against an English-speaking candidate he was overwhelmingly defeated by the French-Canadians who insisted on electing the English-speaking candidate.

Mr. Bassett also directed verbal chastisement toward those who had recently made representation to the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation opposing approval of the application of a French-Canadian group in western Canada to set up a radio station which would let them hear their own language over the air.

"It must be understood that the French language is official in this country and when it is suggested that the French language is to be compared with the language of other minorities in this country, one can only describe such an attitude as absurd and stupid."

All English-speaking papers in Quebec, including Mr. Bassett's Gazette, and the Montreal Star, were strong in their condemnation of the protests against the French-Canadian application.

"One would think the educated English-speaking people in this country would welcome an opportunity to listen to the speaking of the French language, if only from an educational and cultural standpoint," he said.

"It is as illogical to say that the application of another French-Canadian radio station in the west is for the purpose of furthering the Catholic religion as it is to say the granting of a license to an English-speaking station is for furtherance of the dogma of the Protestant faith."

"The loyalty of the French-Canadians, as we English-speaking people in Quebec understand it, is first to Canada, because they have lived in this country for over 300 years... and surely, if we who have lived with the French-Canadians feel that way about them, the rest of Canada should pay some attention."

"The genius of the English race has always been the manner of co-operating with minorities in all parts of the globe. Surely we can do that in Canada."

Mr. Bassett also sought another unity... that of the U.S., the British Commonwealth, France and all real peace-loving nations... banding together to protect their own moral and material philosophies against the Russians.

He believes war with Russia is avoidable, provided the peace-loving nations who do not believe in Russia's philosophy maintain strong military power. He sees no other solution than the balance of power.

However, he still considers the United Nations Assembly a useful body. "If we had been without it, we would never have known to what lengths Russia would go to impose her will upon the rest of the world. As long as she remains part of the United Nations she has got to show her hand and the use of the United Nations must be valued in that light."

"If she leaves the United Nations then her purpose is clear that she will have nothing to do with the rest of the world and we must shape our policy in light of that."

Mr. Bassett also directed verbal chastisement toward those who had recently made representation to the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation opposing approval of the application of a French-Canadian group in western Canada to set up a radio station which would let them hear their own language over the air.

"It must be understood that the French language is official in this country and when it is suggested that the French language is to be compared with the language of other minorities in this country, one can only describe such an attitude as absurd and stupid."

Parking Meter Exemption Asked For 60 Army Cars

Exemption from payment of parking meter fees has been sought for 60 army vehicles operating in the Greater Victoria area by Maj. C. H. Jervis-Read, R.C.A., commanding coast artillery (West Coast), in a letter to Mayor Percy George.

He said there are 35 vehicles operating in the area for the active force army and 25 for the reserve force.

In making the application, Maj. Jervis-Read said there were no funds included in this year's estimates for parking fees, and Vancouver grants such an exemption.

Power Boat Units Change Name Here

Members of the Vancouver Island Power Boat Squads have voted to change the name of their organization to The Capital City Yacht Club. It is one of the last organizations to change its wartime identity to peacetime pursuits.

Early in the war the P.B.S. were organized under the direction of Rolly Halls at various centres on Vancouver Island to assist the armed forces in any emergency. They assisted the R.C.A.F. in such work as crash boat patrol and air-sea rescue work.

Officers now in charge are Norman R. Hill, commodore; Harold Henshall, vice-commodore; Charles Holway, secretary-treasurer, and Col. A. Kent, L. McKenzie, J. Ormond, V. Griffin and J. Sewell, directors.

Untidy Basement Cause Of Fire

Despite the fact that fire department officers have repeated warnings to citizens to tidy up their basements during this week, set aside as Fire Prevention Week, some Victorians seem to be ignoring the advice.

At 9.30 this morning a Linden Avenue resident suffered $500 worth of damage to his home when a spark popped out of his basement hot water heater and set fire to some refuse nearby. The refuse in turn set a stack of wood fuel on fire and before firemen were able to reach the scene, damage was done to the walls and rafters.

"This is exactly the kind of thing we are trying to prevent during Fire Prevention Week," commented Fire Chief Robert T. Brindle.

The trial of R. M. Williams who is charged with carrying meat, intended for sale, in a manner dangerous to public health was remanded until Wednesday when he appeared in city police court this morning.

A fine of $35 and a driver's license suspension of one month was imposed against James Storey in Saanich Police Court Thursday when he was found guilty on a charge of dangerous driving on Tillicum Road, Sept. 13.

The Zoning Board of Appeal has granted two applications for conversion of houses into apartment blocks, conditional on certain restrictions being observed. One would convert 2226 Ida Street into six suites and the other will convert 1029 Tolmie Avenue into three suites.

Johnny Hong, cook in a downtown cafe, was fined $35 for assaulting Chong Chee, another cook, following his trial in city police court this morning. Police officers testified they were called to lower Johnson Street in the afternoon of Sept. 26 and they found Chee unconscious with a cut eye and a cut on the back of his head.

A total of $97 in traffic by-law violations was paid by erring motorists in city police court this morning. Twenty-seven $1 fines were imposed for meter violations, six fines of $2.50 were levied on over-parking charges, three paid $5 fines for making left-hand turns on Douglas Street, two paid a similar fine for not stopping at stop signs, and two others were fined $15 for speeding.

Howe And Mayhew In Vancouver To Discuss New Pat Bay Road

Discussions on the proposed speed highway to link Victoria and Patricia Bay airport will be held in Vancouver during the week-end between R. W. Mayhew, Victoria M.P., and Reconstruction Minister C. D. Howe.

Mr. Mayhew said today he would go to Vancouver tonight for the discussions since Mr. Howe had been forced to cancel his proposed trip to Victoria as he had been called back to Ottawa. Mr. Howe must be back in the capital by Monday night, Mr. Mayhew said.

Meanwhile British Columbia's Works Minister, E. C. Carson, has conferred with Mr. Howe by long-distance telephone. It is planned to have the speed highway between the airport and Victoria constructed jointly by the provincial and federal governments.

Mr. Howe arrived in Vancouver Wednesday aboard a new Trans-Canada Air Lines' pressurized North Skyliner. Accompanying him was H. J. Symington, president of T.C.A., who is on a transcontinental inspection tour of company facilities.

In Vancouver Mr. Howe is discussing with civic officials housing problems related with the problem of housing veterans now in the old Vancouver Hotel. The city needs 1,000 low rental houses. The new North Sky is the first of 20 airliners delivered to T.C.A. by the manufacturers. During the tour Mr. Symington has presented a number of pins to T.C.A. employees signifying their completion of 10 years service. In Winnipeg Mr. Symington received a 10-year pin from W. F. English, vice president.

Mayhew Supports Sealers Claims R. W. Mayhew, M.P., has promised the City Council that he will continue his efforts to get some settlement of the claim of the Victoria Sealing Company for reparations from the Dominion government.

He said he had brought it up many times in the past, since becoming a member of Parliament, but without success. He said a copy of the city's resolution will be sent the minister of fisheries.

Victorian Home After Serving On U.S. Cargo Ship

With an estimated 235,000 miles of ocean travel behind him, Walter E. Weston, 1128 Ormond Street, is back in Victoria to spend the remaining months of this year ashore before going to the United Kingdom to take up his new job as electrical engineer on one of the C.P.R.'s turbo-electric coastal vessels now under construction in Scotland.

Mr. Weston left a job at H.M.C. Dockyard in December, 1945, to sign on with U.S. War Shipping. He was given a berth with a government converted cargo ship which had been taken over from the United Fruit Company and which ran from U.S. ports to various stations in the South Pacific.

"On one occasion we went to Australia and picked up an experimental cargo of apples and pears to take back to the States. A sister ship of ours did the same only she took her fruit to Montreal. It was an experiment to see if there would be a market for Australian fruit here in our off season. The experiment proved a success and now a fruit trade is flourishing both ways between Australia and here," Mr. Weston said.

Australia is very anxious to have English-speaking immigrants come into their country, he continued. They are especially interested in Canadian or American ex-servicemen.

In October, 1946, the ship was turned back to the United Fruit Company but Weston stayed with her. The ship was put into service on a run from New York to ports in Central America.

"Central America is a land of opportunity," Mr. Weston said. "They are crying for machinery to develop themselves but they cannot manufacture it. A few Canadian business firms seem to have realized the opportunity in the country and I met some of their representatives down there."

One of Mr. Weston's most surprising experiences occurred last June in New Orleans, he says. "My wife had been writing to tell me there was no bacon up here, because it was all going to England. There was plenty of bacon

Plan New Lights For Housing Project

Plans will be drawn up immediately for street lighting in the new Topaz Heights subdivision, where 104 houses of Housing Enterprises Ltd., are under construction. Ald. F. G. Mulliner, chairman of the street lighting committee, said following a meeting Thursday.

He said with people moving into the houses, the lighting should be installed before the end of the year and he will recommend it to Tuesday's City Council meeting.

The committee will recommend for consideration next year the installing of lights along Dallas Road between Cook Street and Douglas Street, where there are no lights at present, he said. This will require a capital expenditure.

Indian Appealing 4-Year-Term For Attempted Murder

An attempted murder case from a lonely settlement in the wilderness of northern British Columbia arising out of the shooting of a Swedish tie cutter, came up for hearing before the Appeal Court today.

The case involves Gabriel William, a member of a wandering tribe of Indians, who was found guilty by an assize jury of shooting Lawrence Kylling and sentencing to four years' imprisonment. The victim, shot outside his log cabin, near Topley, approximately 300 miles east of Prince Rupert, suffered from a serious head wound.

The Crown contended that the Indian and a companion had drunk a considerable amount of vanilla extract in a drinking bout prior to the shooting. On their way home, the accused had broken into the victim's cabin and ambushed Kylling while he was cutting wood.

Henry Castillon, K.C., is acting as counsel for the appellant. W. H. Haldane is representing the Crown. The case is continuing.

down there, however, and what surprised me was that it was Canadian bacon."
